183rd Annual Convention

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HOTEL

Ninth and Chestnut Streets

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1967, 4:00 P.M.

The One Hundred Eighty-third Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Pennsylvania assembled in the Ballroom at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, Ninth and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on January 20, 1967 at 4:00 P.M.

The Rt. Rev. Robert L. DeWitt, D.D., Bishop of Pennsylvania, declared the 183rd Convention to be opened.

The Bishop led the Convention in prayer.

A Quorum being present, on nomination of the Rev. Theodore F. Jones, Alfred W. Putnam, Esq. was elected Secretary, and the Rev. Walter R. Strickland was appointed Assistant Secretary of the Convention, which appointment was confirmed by the Convention.

The Rev. William Roulston McKean, D.D., Chairman, presented the report of the Committee on the Dispatch of Business which on motion was adopted as follows:

> Your Committee presents herewith its suggested program for the dispatch of business during the Convention:
> In order to expedite the order of business, your Committee suggests that all reports be made by title where feasible, and as an effort is to be made to transact the work of Convention in one full day, that discussion be curtailed as far as possible.

The Rev. James C. Blackburn presented by title the report of the Committee on Arrangements and described the arrangements for balloting.

The Secretary stated that he believed that all business left unfinished at the last Convention had been carried out and all parties concerned had been notified of the business of the Convention.

Pursuant to the directive of the last Convention, the Secretary requested that literature circulated on the floor of Convention be limited to matters of Convention business. (Appendix 1, page 40.)

The Secretary read the Canon of Courtesy as follows:

> Clergymen canonically resident in this Diocese but not entitled to vote in the Convention, Clergymen of other Dioceses of this Church, Candidates for Holy Orders in this Church, Wardens of Missions other than those entitled to send Deputies, and all persons holding any office or trust under the Convention, including the Lay members of the Standing Committee, the officers of the Diocesan Council, and the Executive Officer of Episcopal Community Services, though not members, shall be admitted to seats and have a voice in the Convention, but not the right to vote.

The Secretary announced that the voting lists for both Clergy and Lay Deputies had been prepared for this Convention and all required notices had been sent to the Deputies. The official address for all Lay Deputies has been the Parish Church of each Deputy. The attention of the Deputies was invited to Article IV of the Constitution of the Diocese and to Canon 2.

The Secretary noted that it is canonically required that parochial reports be received by February 1, 1967, and moved that this Convention waive the canonical restrictions concerning parochial reports as a requisite for seating at this Convention. The motion was adopted.

The Secretary reported that one parish had not qualified by reason of failure to complete 1966 assessments for the Episcopate, Convention and Major Medical Insurance. The parish in question produced a check and the Bishop declared that all parishes entitled to membership in the Convention were qualified.

The Bishop appointed the following Committees:

Claims of Clergy to Seats:

The Rev. Ralph K. Rogers, Convener

The Rev. John R. Norman — The Rev. Warren H. Davis, Jr.

Claims of Laity to Seats:

Edwin S. Heins, Esq., Convener

Mr. Van der Hiel also expressed the gratification of the Department at the appointment of Archdeacon McCarty as Program Development Co-ordinator and expressed appreciation for the Archdeacon's work in the Department in recent years. He then introduced the Rev. Robert E. McCloskey, formerly Archdeacon of the Diocese of Massachusetts, and now the representative of the Diocese of Pennsylvania to Metropolitan Associates of Philadelphia, commonly known as "M.A.P."

The Rev. Mr. McCloskey commented on the work of M.A.P. (Appendix 22, page 110.)

John Butterworth, Esq. then presented the report of the Ministry to Areas of Tension, which is included as the report of the Urban Missioner. (Appendix 8.4.1, page 61.)

Mr. Butterworth made additional comments on behalf of the Bishop's Advisory Committee. He noted that work in this field is lonely. He expressed appreciation for the work with this Committee of Captain Richard Edwards of the Philadelphia Police Department and of young persons who had been employed to work with various groups. These projects are supported in part by the Executive Council. Mr. Butterworth indicated that violence and riots had been avoided by this work, and commented further on the work of the Committee on "Project Free" which has been endeavoring to discourage discriminatory real estate practices. He was questioned concerning the cooperation of these groups with the Poverty Program, to which the Rev. Layton P. Zimmer stated that close contact had been maintained by him and the Department of Christian Social Relations with various officials of the Poverty Program.

The Bishop read a telegram from the Rev. Alfred Vail, former Executive Secretary of the Diocese, sending his best wishes to the Convention.

The Rev. James G. Ludwig, III, on behalf of Mrs. Raymond A. Ballinger, submitted the report of the Corporation for Christian Work in Educational Institutions. (Appendix 8.5, page 63.)

The Rev. Joseph H. Laird presented the report of the Diocesan Conference Center by title. (Appendix 8.6, page 66.)

Mr. Barbin submitted a further report of the Committee on Special Resolutions.

The Rev. Donald L. Farrow submitted the report of the Department of Christian Education by title. (Appendix 8.7, page 67.) He expressed the thanks of the Department to the parishes which had been surveyed to date for the warm reception they had given visitors from the Department. He noted that the 85 parishes surveyed so far had expressed concern as to education for persons of all ages, the lack of motivation of some adults for responsible work in and outside the parishes, the need for teacher training, and the need for better coordination between the Department and the parishes.

A recess was taken for the Third Ballot. The Conveners of the respective Committees on Claims of Clergy and Laity to Seats reported that there had been no claims. Upon motion of the Chancellor, all privileges of the Convention, save voting, were extended to Mr. Harold Gill of St. Andrew's, Yardley.

Mr. J. Peter Stevens submitted the report of Financial Resources and spoke of the work of prime consultants in visiting parishes. Another visitation is planned for the Fall, 1967, as to which Mr. Stevens requests suggestions and comments from both the visitors and the visited. Mr. Stevens stated that facilities are available to assist parishes in connection with the planning of their annual appeals for funds. He also commented on the work of an Advisory Committee. The Bishop expressed thanks.

John A. Ballard, Esq. read the report of the Committee to Study the Church of the Advocate, which committee had been appointed by the Diocesan Council pursuant to the directive of the 1966 Convention. Copies of the report (Appendix 9, page 73.) were circulated to the members of the Convention. An extended discussion with numerous questions ensued. In response to questions, Mr. Spencer D. Wright, III, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the Church of the Advocate, pointed out that a number of the expenditures made by that Church for repairs in recent years, had been from funds contributed specially for such purposes, not from the funds of the Diocese or of the Trustees or of the Parish. Mr. Ballard stated that the Committee's recommendations intended that cost would neither increase nor decrease, but that it was recommended that more Diocesan work be performed at the Church.

The Rev. John J. Albert questioned the ability of the Convention to vote on the report as a whole, to which Mr. Ballard replied that his motion involved acceptance of the report and the appointment of a committee to consider the goals therein stated under item No. 6. The Rev. William J. Alberts inquired as to what was meant by the recommendation that the Diocese take over directly the use, support and maintenance of the Advocate Church Building to which Mr. Ballard replied that the Committee report suggested that a portion of the expense might be assumed and also suggested that the size and splendor of the building lends itself to Diocesan functions. Comments were made by the Rev. Messrs. Anderson, Aulenbach, DuBose, and others indicating agreement with the recommendation of the Committee to the effect that the proposed self-examination by the committee to be appointed extend beyond the Church of the Advocate. The report was accepted and the recommendation under Item No. 6 adopted.

The report of the Church of the Advocate was submitted by the Rev. Paul M. Washington by title. (Appendix 10, page 77.)

The Treasurer, Mr. Ritchie, presented financial statements (Appendix 11, page 85) including a balance sheet as of December 31, 1966, together with the comparison of actual receipts and expenditures with the budget figures for the year, and a notation of the differences between them. Mr. Ritchie noted that the 1966 budget was similar to that adopted at the Convention of May, 1965. At the time of adoption of the 1966 budget the Convention had been unable to anticipate the effect of increase in minimum salaries. Mr. Ritchie noted that a number of figures in the financial reports differ slightly from those submitted in the proposed Missionary Budget because they had been prepared for mailing to the Deputies prior to the closing of the books for the year 1966. He then commented on the major differences between the actual and budgeted figures, pointing out that underexpenditure of $56,672 in the Department of Missions had been accomplished largely because many missions had not requested additional funds and had met a larger portion of expenses from their own resources. He also commented on reduction of costs through certain mergers. He pointed out that there had been savings in several areas because of inability to fill positions provided in the budget. The increase in expenditure over budgeted figures in the Department of Communications was attributed to non-recurring expense in connection with revision of mailing lists and acquisition of equipment authorized by the Diocesan Council. He noted that the Treasurer's Office had been able to accomplish savings of approximately $7,500 because of economies in mailing and discounts arranged by the Controller, etc. Reduction in expenditure in the amounts for salaries and bonuses represent a holding of the line and the saving of one pension. He noted that the income figures do not include special gifts and grants.

Mr. Ritchie expressed particular gratification at the fact that the parishes' and missions' contributions had exceeded those of the previous year by about $100,000. "Other" income was substantially augmented by the higher returns available on invested funds of the Diocese.

Mr. Ritchie then reviewed the balance sheet and stated that he believed the loans and receivables to be realistic assets and pointed out that the deficit, which had been estimated as high as $175,000 in the budget, had in fact been $32,377. He pointed out that $480,000 had been pledged to the Executive Council, and the Diocese had in fact sent $491,000, due to greater than budgeted income from parishes and missions. The Treasurer expressed the opinion that the balance sheet figures reflected a healthy financial picture for the Diocese.

The Treasurer's reports on the above-mentioned financial statements were accepted and filed with the thanks of the Convention to the Treasurer.

The Judges of Election reported the results of the Third Ballot (Appendix 34.2, page 152).

No election was made on this ballot. The Rev. William Henderson Hill and the Rev. Oscar Holder withdrew as candidates for the Diocesan Council and the Rev. Leonard J. Sachs withdrew as a candidate for the Commission on Rectors' Salaries and Pensions.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. McKean, the Convention directed the Judges of Election to aggregate the Clerical and Lay votes for unfilled offices on the Fourth Ballot and to determine that the persons receiving a majority of the votes cast on such ballot would be declared to have been elected.

W. Charles Hogg, Esq., Chairman of the Department of Finance, then presented the proposed Missionary Budget for 1967 (Appendix 12, page 89) together with graphs showing the percentage of the expenditures to be allocated to certain areas and also the projected income to support the Missionary Budget. Copies of these documents had been circulated to the Members of the Convention. Mr. Hogg noted that the projected income aggregated $1,167,400, and that the proposed Missionary Budget amounted to $552,200. Mr. Hogg described the procedure for preparing the budget and introduced Mr. S. Stoney Simons.

Mr. Simons analyzed each item of the budget in detail. He pointed out that certain items of expenditure generate income, but stated that the budget had reflected income separately. Mr. Simons compared the increases and decreases in the proposed 1967 Budget with the actual receipts and expenditures for the year 1966.

Mr. Hogg noted that almost 90% of expenditures are for salaries. He commented that the deficit in 1966 had been met from unallocated income received in prior years, not from the capital funds of the Diocese. Mr. Hogg analyzed the larger items and pointed out that the missions are assuming a larger share of the cost of their maintenance. He pointed out that the proposed increase in expenditure for Areas of Tension is largely because the 1966 Budget covered only one-half of the cost. The expenditures for college work, etc. appear larger than in 1966 because the Executive Council Grant for that purpose is decreased.

Mr. Hogg also pointed out that expenditure for Theological Education will fluctuate with the number of seminarians and their needs. He pointed out that the Conference Center expected less intensive use than in the extraordinarily active and successful year of 1966 and that certain extraordinary repairs were necessary. He pointed out that expenditure for financial resources would be reduced because there would be one visitation to the parishes in 1967 rather than two as in 1966. Further discussion included a number of questions as to the nomenclature used which Messrs. Hogg and Simons described.

The proposed Missionary Budget was adopted without dissent. The Bishop expressed the thanks of the Convention to the Department of Finance and the several committees which had worked on the preparation of the Budget and related matters.

Mr. Hogg offered a resolution which was adopted as follows:

RESOLVED, That during the year 1967, the protection provided by Canon 7.8 may be broadened, as the Department of Finance and Property of Diocesan Council may determine to be desirable, to include additional persons employed by the Diocese, or parishes and missions therein; and

FURTHER, That the extent of the protection, or the business organization to supply the same, shall be either that specified in Canon 7.8, paragraph 2 or any other chosen by the Department of Finance and Property;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a committee of the Department of Finance and Property be appointed by the chairman of the same to report specially on the 1967 experience in administration of this Resolution to the Convention of January, 1968, and that the Committee on Constitution and Canons be requested then to report whether or not amendment of Canon 7.8 should be enacted.

In discussion on the foregoing Resolution, Henry Dolan, Esq., Chairman of the Committee on Constitution and Canons, noted that in effect Canon 7.8 would be suspended for a year by this Resolution and that an amendment to the Canons could be made at a subsequent Convention if experience indicated that such amendment would be desirable.

The Rev. Frederick A. Breuninger then offered a series of Resolutions to memorialize the General Convention. Copies of these Resolutions had been circulated to the Members of the Convention. He discussed the desirability of the General Convention having proportionate representation in the House of Deputies but stated that the method to accomplish this objective should be left to the General Convention. Mr. P. Blair Lee spoke in support of the Resolution which was adopted as follows:

RESOLVED, That the Diocese of Pennsylvania memorialize the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S. A. to effect a program of proportionate representation in the House of Deputies.

Mr. Breuninger then presented a Resolution to memorialize the General Convention to abolish the Unit Rule of Voting in the House of Deputies except on matters of faith and order and commented on the procedure used in the General Convention. Mr. P. Blair Lee and others commented on this Resolution. Discussion indicated that this matter was already under consideration by Committees of the General Convention and the Resolution was withdrawn.

Mr. Breuninger then offered Resolutions to change the General Convention from a tri-annual to a bi-annual Convention and to effect a system of reimbursement of Deputies, which Resolutions were discussed together. The Very Rev. Dr. Anderson and others pointed out the substantial expenses involved in attendance at General Conventions, the loss of income to Deputies, and the fact that under the present procedure, it was necessary to spend nine or ten days in attendance. The discussion indicated that a bi-annual Convention would shorten the duration and, therefore, enable more persons to serve as Lay Deputies. On separate votes the Resolutions were adopted as follows:

RESOLVED, That the Diocese of Pennsylvania memorialize the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S. A. to effect the shortening of General Convention from a tri-annual to a bi-annual convention as soon as possible.

RESOLVED, That the Diocese of Pennsylvania memorialize the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S. A. to effect a system of national reimbursement of Deputies to the General Convention on a proportionate basis.

Mr. Breuninger then offered the following resolutions which were adopted on separate votes:

RESOLVED, That the Diocese of Pennsylvania memorialize the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S. A. to effect the seating of women Deputies.

RESOLVED, That the Diocese of Pennsylvania memorialize the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S. A. to create a Nominating Committee to make candidates for national offices genuinely representative.

Mr. Breuninger offered a resolution with respect to the publication of meetings of the Standing Committees and Commissions of the General Convention so that interested persons might request the privilege of appearing on behalf of specific legislation. The Rev. Charles H. Long, Jr., Mr. P. Blair Lee, and others expressed concern at how the General Convention could implement such Resolution if approved by it. The Rev. Dr. Aulenbach offered an amendment which was approved. The Resolution, as amended, was adopted as follows:

RESOLVED, That the Diocese of Pennsylvania memorialize the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S. A. to effect publication of all meetings of Standing Committees and Commissions of the General Convention prior to the meeting of the next Convention so that interested persons throughout the Church might request the privilege of appearing on behalf of specific legislation.

The Rev. John J. Albert offered two resolutions which after discussion, on separate votes, were adopted as follows:

RESOLVED, That the statistical data of the Parishes and Missions of the Diocese printed in the JOURNAL and listed in tabular form, indicate the sum totals of the various data listed.

RESOLVED, That the statistical data of the Parishes and Missions printed in the JOURNAL, indicate, in separate columns, the amounts given by each Parish and Mission to the Diocesan and National Church Program and "other work outside the Parish."

The Rev. Edward L. Lee, Jr. offered a resolution which the Diocesan Council had authorized the Department of Christian Social Relations to submit to the Convention, which was adopted as follows:

WHEREAS, the meaning of human life and the fullness thereof is of primary concern to the Church of God of which this Diocese is one part; and,

WHEREAS, within our society at large and within this Commonwealth in particular questions have lately been raised as to the adequacy of our civil laws touching upon the practice of abortion; therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, That the 183rd Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania request the Bishop to appoint a Commission or Committee to engage in a study of the theological, moral, legal, medical, and other aspects of the practice of abortion, soliciting such advice and counsel as it deems necessary to such study, and to report its findings and recommendations in this matter to the next Diocesan Convention; and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Secretary of this Convention forward copies of this Resolution to the Ecclesiastical Authority of each Diocese within this Commonwealth to the end that the witness of the several Dioceses touching on the practice of abortion be co-ordinated so far as it may be.

G. Seldon Pitt, Esq. reported for the Committee on Incorporation and submitted the following resolutions which were adopted:

RESOLVED, That the proposed amended Articles of Incorporation of ST. AUGUSTINE'S PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH, PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA, be approved and that permission be given to apply to the proper court to grant same.

RESOLVED, That the proposed amended Articles of Incorporation of ALL SAINTS' PARISH, RHAWNHURST, be approved and that permission be given to apply to the proper court to grant same.

RESOLVED, That the proposed amended Articles of Incorporation of THE RECTOR, CHURCH WARDENS AND VESTRYMEN OF ST. DAVID'S (COMMONLY CALLED RADNOR) CHURCH, IN THE COUNTY OF DELAWARE, be approved and that permission be given to apply to the proper court to grant the same.

RESOLVED, That the proposed amended Articles of Incorporation of CHURCH OF SAINT JAMES THE LESS be approved and that permission be given to apply to the proper court to grant the same.

A recess was then taken for Noon Prayers which were conducted by the Rev. John R. Hart, D.D.

The Rev. Arnold Pudie, D.D. read the report of the Committee on Organization and Structure (Appendix 13, page 91) and commented on the importance of the position of the Planning Coordinator and the desirability of communication with him.

At Dr. Purdie's request, Dean Wainwright then reported for the Subcommittee to Study the Structure of Convocations within the Diocese. Dean Wainwright described the historical reasons for the creation of Convocations, commented on the need for flexibility of boundaries of the districts, and referred to the proposed program to have more numerous districts called "Deaneries" replace the existing Convocations. A copy of a memorandum entitled "Development of New Deaneries in the Diocese of Pennsylvania" had been previously circulated. Dean Wainwright pointed out that the memorandum contemplated that the structure and methods of election in the proposed Deaneries would be similar to existing procedures in the Convocations but that the duties of the Deans and other officers of the Deaneries would include pastoral matters. He described the proposed function of the office of Deans, Wardens, and of the Executive Committee of the Deaneries. He offered a series of resolutions on this subject, pointing out that the geographical changes from six Convocations to twelve Deaneries are not now at issue; that the proposals of the memorandum are illustrative; that further suggestions and discussions are proposed to be held, and that the Department of Missions and Diocesan Council would consider these matters further and report to the 1968 Convention.

Henry T. Dolan, Esq. expressed the opinion on behalf of the Committee on Constitution and Canons that the resolution did not conflict with Canon 4.2.2. The Rev. John Scott commented on the need for lateral connections as well as a vertical structure. Mr. Arthur A. Moorhead questioned whether personnel was available for the various functions to be included in the proposed Deanery structure without dilution of efforts on the Diocesan and Parochial level. Dean Wainwright replied emphasizing that the proposals were not intended to create any bureaucracy but to provide a vehicle for groups of parishes and missions to improve communications to and from the Diocese. The Very Rev. Francis P. Davis reported on discussions of these matters within the Convocation of Chester indicating substantially unanimous support. The resolutions were adopted as follows:

THAT Canon VIII, Sections I, II, III be amended to read:

CANON VIII

Of Diocesan Deaneries

Sec. I. Functions

The work of the Diocese shall be under the control and supervision of the Bishop, assisted by the Diocesan Council; but the work in each district, subject to such control, shall be conducted by the Deans and other officers of the several Deaneries, as hereinafter set forth. The function of the Deaneries shall be:

1. To serve as a channel of communication between the Diocese and the several Parishes and Missions:
2. In consultation with the Department of Christian Education, to further the educational work of the Diocese at all levels;
3. To develop leadership within the Diocese;
4. In cooperation with the Department of Missions, to assist in the development of new missions and to support existing missions; and
5. To support the Bishop of the Diocese in the discharge of his pastoral responsibilities.

Sec. II. Bounds of Deaneries

For the more efficient conduct of its work the Diocese shall be divided into districts, to be called Deaneries. The names and boundaries of the several Deaneries shall be established from time to time by the Diocesan Council.

Sec. III. Structure

1. Voting Members: The voting members of each Deanery shall be:
   a. All of the Clergymen resident within its limits entitled to vote in the Convention (and, for the purpose of this Canon, Clergymen shall be considered to be resident in that Deanery where their work is located, and Clergymen not having any permanently localized work shall be entitled to vote only in the Deanery in which they reside);

b. The Lay Deputies to the Convention from the Parishes within the Deanery, but any Parish shall have the right to send to the Deanery in place of any Lay Deputy a Lay Delegate chosen by the Vestry from among the Communicants of the Parish;

c. One Lay Delegate from each Chapel not represented in the Convention and having more than fifty Communicants; and

d. The Warden of each Mission organized under the provisions of Canon X, or such other officer of the Mission as the Warden may deputize.

2. Dean: The Executive officer of each Deanery shall be a Presbyter, to be called The Dean, who shall be elected at a stated meeting of the Deanery to take office for the succeeding three calendar years, or until his successor shall have been elected. He shall not be eligible for re-election for a period of one year after his completion of two consecutive three-year terms. A nominating committee of the Deanery shall consult with the Bishop before making its report to the Deanery.

   The duties of the Dean shall be:

   a. To preside at meetings of the Deanery and of its Executive Committee;

   b. To consult with the Bishop in matters concerning the Deanery;

   c. To consult with and give pastoral support to the Clergymen within the Deanery; and

   d. To act as a liturgical and pastoral representative of the Bishop as authorized by him in particular instances.

3. Dean's Warden: Each Deanery shall elect a Dean's Warden at a stated meeting of the Deanery to take office for the succeeding two calendar years, or until his successor shall have been elected. He shall not be eligible for re-election after the completion of three consecutive two-year terms. The Dean's Warden shall be a Layman who is a Communicant of a Parish or Mission within the Deanery.

   The duties of the Dean's Warden shall be:

   a. To assist the Dean in the administration of the Deanery and in the formulation of its program; and

   b. To represent the Dean upon his request, and in his absence to perform his non-sacerdotal duties.

4. Secretary and Treasurer: Each Deanery shall elect a Secretary and a Treasurer at a stated meeting of the Deanery to take office for the succeeding two calendar years, or until in each instance his successor shall have been elected.

5. Executive Committee: The Executive Committee of each Deanery shall consist of the Dean, the Dean's Warden, the Secretary, the Treasurer, The Chairman of the Episcopal Church Women and the Secretary of the Episcopal Church Women (in each case of the Deanery) and also such other persons as shall be chosen in accordance with the By-Laws of the Deanery.

   The duties of the Executive Committee shall be:

   a. To assist the Bishop, the Dean and the Dean's Warden in all matters relating to the Deanery; and

   b. To act on behalf of the Deanery in all matters requiring action at any time more than one month prior to a meeting of the Deanery.

6. Meetings: Each Deanery shall hold at least two stated meetings in each calendar year for the transaction of its business.

7. Vacanices: If the office of Dean becomes vacant, the Bishop shall appoint an Acting Dean. If any other office of the Deanery becomes vacant, the Dean shall appoint some eligible person to fill that vacancy. All such appointments shall terminate at the succeeding stated meeting of the Deanery, when the Deanery shall fill the vacated office.

8. Reports: Each Deanery shall make an annual report to the Diocesan Convention.

9. By-Laws: Each Deanery shall for the conduct of its buisness adopt By-Laws consistent with these canons.

THAT the title of Canon VIII be amended to read "Of Diocesan Deaneries";

THAT without specific enumeration every other reference in the Canons to "Convocation" or "Convocations" be amended to read "Deanery" or "Deaneries," respectively; and (it was noted such references are found in the following canons: V; §1; par. 1, 3, 6; VIII; §IV; par 4; IX; §§II, III, V; X; §1; par. 1, 2; X; §III; par. 1, 4, 7.)

That Canon VIII, Sections IV, V and VI relating to missions, be placed elsewhere in the Canons, and renumbered in the discretion of the Committee on Canons.

Henry T. Dolan, Esq. submitted the report of the Committee on Constitution and Canons. He noted that a portion of the Committee's report had previously been made during the discussion on the resolutions submitted by Dean Wainwright. He submitted a resolution amending Article VI, Par. 2 of the Constitution. Extended discussion ensued as to whether or not the proposed amendment, which would provide for election by majority vote, should include voting for members of the Diocesan Council, or whether voting for that office should continue to be by separate Order. The Rev. James G. Ludwig, III, urged that the Diocesan Council be included among offices to be voted upon by separate Orders because of its importance in carrying on the work of the Diocese between Conventions. The Rev. Messrs. Albert and Breuninger supported the Amendment. An amendment to the resolution proposed by Mr. Dolan to preserve voting for such offices by separate Order was carried. The resolution as amended was adopted with separate votes on each item as follows:

RESOLVED, That Article VI, Paragraph 2 of the Constitution of the Diocese be amended to read:

2. Members of the Standing Committee and Deputies to General Convention, members of Diocesan Council, both clerical and lay, must, in order to their election, receive a majority of the whole number of votes cast at such election by each Order. In election to any other office or Committee, the vote of a majority of the Deputies present shall suffice unless otherwise ordered by this Constitution, or, in cases not specifically provided for by the Constitution, by any Canon; but the Convention may, in their discretion . . . (remainder without change)

On motion by Mr. Dolan the following Resolution was adopted:

RESOLVED, That the third paragraph of the Resolution of Convention of 1965, as to clerical salaries retroactively to January 1, 1966, be amended to read as follows:

3. An allowance for service in the ministry of a minimum increment of $100.00 per year for ten years beginning with the first day of the calendar year following ordination to the priesthood; and thereafter a service increment of $100.00 for every five additional years in the ministry.

The Judges of Election reported the results of the Fouth Ballot. (Appendix 34.3, page 154.) The Secretary announced and the Chair confirmed the election of the Rev. Harry R. Johnson and the Rev. Arnold Purdie, D.D. as Alternate Deputies to the 62nd General Convention, the election of the Rev. W. Hamilton Aulenbach, D.D. and the Rev. Frederick A. Breuninger to Diocesan Council, and the election of the Rev. William H. Jefferys, Jr. to the Commission on Rectors' Salaries and Pensions.

The Rev. Peter C. Van der Hiel, Jr. reported for the Committee on Provincial Structure. He stated that the Province had appointed the Committee which had met in Washington to report to the Provincial Council. He read the report of the Committee Appendix 14, page 92) and offered the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That the 183rd Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania approves in principle the direction in which the Provincial Council of the Province plans to move in reference to reorganization and structure of the Provincial Structure as proposed by the special committee of the Province.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Provincial Council presents to the next Synod Meeting the report as submitted by the Special Committee of the Province and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the 183rd Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania shares with the Joint Committee on Structure of the General Convention and Provinces the general approval of the proposals set forth in the report.

Mr. P. Blair Lee spoke in favor of the Resolution. Mr. Spencer D. Wright, III, expressed the opinion that the Provincial Meetings waste time, particularly the time of the Bishops. The Rev. Mr. Breuninger inquired as to the purposes of the Synod and remarked on college work and the Hood Conference. The Rev. Dr. Aulenbach expressed the opinion that the organization needs revitalizing and inquired as to whether the Convention should determine whether any Diocese should be permitted to withdraw, in response to which Mr. Van der Hiel indicated that one other Diocese had indicated possible withdrawal. Further remarks were made on the Clergy Training Program. The Bishop recognized the work of the National Commission on these matters. The Resolution was adopted.

The Rev. William H. Jefferys, Jr. submitted the report of The Bishop's Committee on Rector's Salaries and Pensions by title (Appendix 15, page 95). He noted that reserve funds are available for parishes which are unable to meet the mandatory minimum clergy salary scale. He pointed out that the minimum scale applies to full-time curates and reported that the Committee had found a few instances in which the scale had not been met but had also determined in one case that a claimant was not entitled to the full salary scale by reason of other employment.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. McKean, acting for the Committee on the Dispatch of Business, a recess was taken until 2 p.m.

The Rev. John Albert submitted the following Resolution of Appreciation and Affection for Bishop Swift which was adopted by acclamation.

WHEREAS, the Diocese of Pennsylvania has been spiritually enriched and greatly assisted, by the presence and Episcopal Ministry of The Right Reverend A. Ervine Swift during the past year and a half of his sojourn and labors among us, and

WHEREAS, Bishop Swift has not only faithfully fulfilled the manifold duties, functions and ministrations of his office as Assistant to the Bishop of Pennsylvania, but has willingly and cheerfully preached the Word and administered the Sacrament in many a parish and mission; Invoked the Blessing and Bestowed Apostolic Peace at countless church suppers; spoken to and addressed innumerable groups and organizations large and small throughout this Diocese; counselled with and given spiritual aid and comfort to clergy and laity alike; all this being over and above the official duties to which he was called, and;

WHEREAS, by so doing he has made manifest the Love of God for all people, and as a Chief Shepherd of the Flock of Christ has exhibited in his own life the fruits of the Spirit, and quickened in us an answering response of Christian Love, Esteem, and Affection;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That this 183rd Annual Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania express to Bishop Swift the gratitude and appreciation of the people of this Diocese and extend to him, Mrs. Swift and the members of their family, a rich and fruitful ministry in their new home and calling.

The Bishop noted the contributions to a purse for Bishop and Mrs. Swift as a material expression of esteem and affection to be made through the Diocesan Office to be presented by Dr. MacColl, Chairman of the Standing Committee.

The Rev. J. Wesley Twelves submitted the report on the Committee on Parochial History by title (Appendix 16, page 96). He commented on the lack of space for historical material and expressed the hope that additional facilities would be made available.

Dr. Twelves also submitted his report as Registrar of the Diocese (Appendix 17, page 97) and moved the following resolution which was adopted:

RESOLVED, That an appropriation of $100 be made available to the Parochial History Committee for expenses.

Mr. Barbin reported for the Committee on Special Resolutions. He stated that a proposal had been jointly submitted by the Rev. Messrs. John M. Scott and Arthur E. Woolley, Jr. which required a waiver of the rules by a 2/3 majority, which waiver was obtained. The Resolution was adopted as follows:

RESOLVED, That the Chairman refer the following proposal to an appropriate committee to be reported upon at the 1968 Convention.

In order to insure that Diocesan Council is representative of the parishes and missions of the Diocese no person shall be eligible for election by the Convention who is a member of Church House staff or is serving in another elected office of the Diocese.

The Rev. Alexander McCurdy, III, submitted a resolution addressed to the President of the United States to halt the bombing of North Vietnam. Discussion ensued as to whether the resoluiton was appropriate for consideration by the Convention. A motion to table the resolution was carried.

Another resolution with respect to the present Vietnam conflict was submitted by the Rev. John E. Lamb. Similar discussion as to whether the Convention should consider this resolution ensued. On a vote to table, the Chair declared that a standing vote would be necessary. The Secretary reported that as nearly as he and his assistants could determine the motion to table had carried by a vote of 173 for and 155 against.

The Rev. William H. Jefferys, Jr. reported receipt of a communication from the Diocese of Southwestern Virginia which advised that the Convention of that Diocese might refer to General Convention proposals to allow specially licensed lay persons to assist in the distribution of the Elements of Holy Communion on a trial use basis and might also authorize alternative translations to the King James version in services of the Book of Common Prayer other than the lessons of Morning and Evening Prayer. Mr. Jefferys stated that the Liturgical Advisory Committee had recently received this communication which is dated January 10, 1967 and had not had an opportunity to express any opinion on the matter. He suggested that Members of the Convention might wish to consider these problems and might express their opinions to the Deputies to the General Convention.

A resolution was offered by the Rev. Roland S. Lindsay with respect to the date of the 1968 Convention. The resolution proposed that the Convention be held in each year on the Friday and Saturday next following the third Sunday of January. Mr. Barbin noted that the resolution could apply only to the Convention of the next year. The Rev. James C. Blackburn, Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, stated that the Committee had booked the Sheraton Hotel for January 19 and 20, 1968 and that the Sheraton would not be free for January 26 and 27. The Chancellor indicated that the Convention could not fix a date for future Conventions more than one year in advance. The Rev. Mr. Lindsay withdrew the resolution and indicated that a later date might be more appropriate for future years. The Rev. Mr. Blackburn expressed the opinion that the Convention should be held in February or March after the date for presentation of parochial reports and urged that the Committee on Arrangements might consider such matters in future years. Further discussion indicated that a substantial majority felt that the Convention should be held on January 19 and 20, 1968, but that the Committee on Arrangements might consider these matters with respect to subsequent years.

Mr. A. Mitchell Shumate, Executive Vice-President, submitted the report of The Church Foundation by title (Appendix 18, page 98) and introduced Howard Kellogg, Esq., who commented on the work of The Church Foundation. Mr. Kellogg pointed out that The Church Foundation held both property and funds as a trustee for the Diocese itself, including missions, and for any parishes wishing to use its services. He pointed out the value of services in safeguarding and investing parish funds and stated that trusts could be created revocably or irrevocably. He described the Consolidated Fund which provides opportunity for broader diversification of investment than would normally be obtainable in an individual trust. Complete or partial withdrawals of principal can be accomplished by liquidation of units of the Consolidated Fund. He noted that at the time of the last quarterly appraisal, December 5, 1966, the Dow Jones Industrial Stock

Average declined 20.4% from its all-time high but the value of the Consolidated Fund had declined only 10.6%. The income distributed in 1966 was the highest in the history of the Fund and showed a yield of approximately 4.5.% The Church Foundation now accepts so called Life Income Trusts under which a benefactor may retain or confer on another the life income and vest the remainder interest in any general or special Church purpose as may be desired with consequent Income Gift and Estate Tax benefits. He and Mr. Shumate offered to answer any question following the Convention.

The report of the Cathedral Chapter was submitted by title by the Secretary, Samuuel H. Ballam, Jr., who then moved Convention's confirmation of the Reverend Messrs. Robert C. S. Deacon, Stanley E. Johnson, Theodore F. Jones, Gustave J. Weltsek, Jr., and Mr. Robert H. Brownell, and Phillip H. Dorman, M.D. for election to the Chapter at its next meeting. This motion was carried. (Appendix 19, page 100.)

The report of the Christmas Fund was submitted by title. (Appendix 20, page 101.)

The Rev. Edward L. Lee, Jr. expressed disapproval of the Convention's failure to act on the resolutions with respect to the war in Vietnam. A number of objections were raised to his remarks. The Bishop stated that it was unfortunate that the press of other business prevented a discussion of matters of topical interest at the Convention and expressed the hope that some other forum might be appropriate for such purposes.

The Rev. Dr. McKean announced a resolution submitted by Sadie S. Mitchell recommending the printing in booklet form and distribution of all printed Convention material. It was pointed out that the preprints of reports had been circulated and that the Committee on Arrangements had made and would continue to make efforts to put all material possible in the hands of the Members of Convention as far in advance as circumstances permitted. This matter was referred to the Committee on Arrangements.

The Rev. Dr. McKean presented the following resolutions which were adopted:

RESOLVED, that the 184th Annual Convention be held on Friday, January 19 and Saturday, January 20, 1968 at the Sheraton Hotel, Philadelphia.

RESOLVED, that the thanks of the Convention be extended to the Committee on Arrangements, the Rev. James Blackburn, Chairman, and to the ladies who have assisted as tellers, hostesses and in other capacities.

RESOLVED, that 1,000 copies of the Journal and 1,500 copies of the Directory be printed and distributed as usual.

RESOLVED, that the Treasurer of the Diocese be authorized to pay the Assistant Secretary of the Convention the honorarium of $100 plus reimbursement for his expenses in connection with this Convention.

RESOLVED, that the Committee on Expenses pay the expenses of this Convention.

The Bishop declared that the 184th Convention would be held on Friday, January 19 and Saturday, January 20, 1968.

The Bishop stated that the Committees would be appointed within the next 30 days. The Convention adjourned at 3:22 p.m.

November 23, 1966

Re: Circulation of Literature at Convention

The circulation of reports from departments, committees, organizations and institutions which report to the Convention is encouraged. Such reports will be included in the "Pre-prints" where possible. Similarly, circulation of copies of proposed resolutions or communications relating to the business of the Convention is desired.

However, in order to avoid distraction and inconvenience to the members of the Convention, the circulation of advertisements and communications on matters not relevant to the business of the Convention will not be permitted on the floor of Convention.

This memorandum is issued after consultation with the officers of the Convention, pursuant to the action of the 1966 Convention.

Respectfully submitted,

ALERED W. PUTNAM
Secretary

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE EPISCOPAL COMMITTEE REPRESENTING THE DIOCESE OF PENNSYLVANIA IN COOPERATION WITH THE CHINESE CHRISTIAN CHURCH AND CENTER FOR THE YEAR ENDING

December 31, 1966

The Diocese of Pennsylvania has been represented in the work of the Chinese Christian Church and Center by the Rt. Rev. Andrew Y. Y. Tsu, The Rev. Charles H. Long, Jr. and the Rev. Percy F. Stockman, D.D., appointed by the Rt. Rev. Robert L. DeWitt to represent the Diocese on the Board of Trustees of the Chinese Christian Church and Center. These representatives have been aided by a voluntary committee, of which Bishop Tsu is Chairman and Dr. Stockman is Secretary. The Episcopal Committee has held three meetings during the year and has raised $3100, of which $2750 has been sent to the Treasurer of the Trustees of the Chinese Christian Church and Center as the Episcopal Church share of the operating budget. Five hundred dollars of this was appropriated through the budget of the diocese. Five other church groups have contributed to the total budget of $17,000.

The Episcopal Committee also has given $90.00 for summer camp scholarships for nine teenagers, each of whom earned additional funds for their week in the country.

Also, the committee has received contributions amounting to $647.50 to establish a memorial to the late Deaconess Gertrude Stewart. This fund will be held at interest until a suitable memorial can be installed.

A family of nine persons, including the father, mother, and seven children, arrived from Hong Kong in the early part of the year. They have all become members of the Chinese church. The father and mother are employed at a clothing factory and are preparing to become citizens of the United States. The older children are at public school and are learning English very rapidly. The family is quite an asset to the local congregation.

Also, beginning in early October, classes have been started for pre-school children from families in the vicinity of the Mission. Twenty-five children and three voluntary teachers have been enrolled so far.

Respectfully submitted,

PERCY R. STOCKMAN
Secretary

EPISCOPAL HOSPITAL
REPORT TO THE 183rd DIOCESAN CONVENTION OF THE DIOCESE OF PENNSYLVANIA

January 1967

J. EBERT BUTTERWORTH, President, Board of Managers

We are pleased to report that the new Potter-Morris Building was turned over to Episcopal Hospital by the contractors on December 20, 1966. December 21 and 22 were "open house" days on which the general public was invited to inspect the new facilities.

This new wing will not house all of our patients. Some are still being cared for in the Tower Building. However, all patients in our old East and West Buildings, erected in 1862 and 1875, were moved to the new air conditioned semiprivate rooms of the Potter-Morris Building on December 27.

Time did not permit dedication services in 1966. They will be held in April of 1967 and all members of the clergy will be invited to attend.

We believe that the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania and Episcopal Hospital, in concert with the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Philadelphia, have accomplished an ecumenical "first." With the hearty approval of Bishop Robert L. DeWitt, who consulted with Archbishop John J. Krol, of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese, the Hospital's Board of Managers invited the Archdiocese to share the altar of our Chapel. The invitation was accepted and for several months now, Mass has been celebrated by the Rev. Joseph A. McCloskey from the Church of the Visitation, at 8:45 o'clock each Sunday morning for Roman Catholic patients and hospital personnel.

The service of Holy Communion according to the Book of Common Prayer follows at 10 o'clock. In addition to ambulatory patients, visitors and hospital staff, the service is attended by patients in beds and wheel chairs, transported by a volunteer Chapel Corps of young people from various parishes.

The Rev. Benjamin Axleroad, Chaplain, has also inspired the cooperation of our student nurses who assist as acolytes and members of the altar guild. On May 25 at a special Communion Service the Chaplain presented three student nurses with awards in recognition of their assistance. They were: Amy Watts, who had given "outstanding" assistance; Joan Stockman, and Mary Roberts Wetherill.

A significant addition made by Chaplain Axleroad has been the Baptistry created in the west vestibule by installing the small altar from the balcony, and the font. A Paschal candlestick, given by the young people of All Saints', Wynnewood, has been placed here; and the Chaplain obtained an 18-inch figure of St. Luke, carved from the wood of a linden tree by a craftsman in the Tyrolean Alps. On St. Luke's Day, October 18, this Baptistry was dedicated to the Physician-evangelist, with members of the medical staff participating.

The Chaplain screened twelve candidates for Holy Orders and addressed 13 Church groups, illustrating his talks with pictures of the hospital and Chaplaincy Program. In addition to his faithful ministry to patients he has conducted regular services at Harrison House for our older long-term patients, held weekly discussions with students and conducted many special services during the pre-Christmas season, Lent and on Saints' days.

Appreciation must be expressed by the Hospital for contributions from the parishes through the annual Thanksgiving Offering. The 1965 offering amounted to $16,275 and the cost of maintaining the Chaplaincy Service, which also includes salaries of the Chaplain, secretary and organist, amounted to $26,386.

APPENDIX 6

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE TO THE 1967 DIOCESAN CONVENTION

At the organization meeting of the Standing Committee held on January 26, 1966, the Committee received the report of the Secretary of the Convention that the Reverend James R. MacColl, III, D.D., and E. LeRoy Van Roden had been elected to the Standing Committee for a term of five years expiring in January 1971.

The Reverend James R. MacColl was elected President of the Standing Committee and Townsend Munson was elected Secretary.

The President appointed Dr. Van der Hiel to serve as Chairman for the Committee on the Episcopate, and Mr. Wheeler, Father Anderson, and Dr. Edwards as members of the Budget Committee, with Mr. Wheeler as chairman.

Since the 1966 Diocesan Convention, the Standing Committee has approved and signed consents for 12 Candidates for Holy Orders

15 Applications for Ordination to the Diaconte

and 12 Applications for ordination to the Priesthood.

Final action was taken under Canon 62 of the General Canons for the deposition of William Vaughn Ischie. Action was also taken under this Canon for abandonment of the Ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church by the Reverend Carl Sandiford, formerly of All Saints Church, Darby.

The program for the training sessions for the prime consultants (leading laymen of the Diocese) and for group meetings of the Clergy was enthusiastically supported by the Committee.

This report of the Committee to the Convention is shorter and less detailed than in years past. However, the Standing Committee has fulfilled more fully its role as prescribed by the Canons as a body to consult and advise with the Bishop on the many problems with which he has been concerned and asked the advice of the Committee.

These problems are varied and wide-ranging. We appreciate the confidence of the Bishop and trust that the advice which we have been able to provide has assisted the Bishop in the discharge of his heavy responsibilities.

Respectfully submitted,

TOWNSEND MUNSON
Secretary

APPENDIX 7

Remarks of the Rt. Rev. Robert L. DeWitt to the 183rd Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania

Friday, January 20, 1967

I would begin my address by taking cognizance of Bishop Swift's imminent departure for the Diocese of South Florida, where he will be rector of St. Gregory's Church in Boca Raton — and inevitably giving some episcopal assistance to the Bishop of that diocese! We rejoice in his finding a permanent post. And we all wish to express our deep gratitude to him for his gracious presence amongst us for these past several months. We will miss him. Meanwhile, we have been assured of the service of other Bishops who will visit our diocese from time to time to assist with the various episcopal functions which Bishop Swift has been performing.

One cannot speak of Bishops in Pennsylvania, however, without a word of deep appreciation for that author of note, that "Friend of Fishermen," Bishop Andrew Y. Y. Tsu. Diocesan Bishops are like the grass of the field, but Bishop Tsu goes on from strength to strength! I cannot picture this diocese without him.

Nor can one picture the Diocese of Pennsylvania without the superb staff of men and women, lay and ordained, old and new, who are bringing a wonderful quality of excellence and loyalty to the work of the diocese.

But mostly, one cannot picture the Diocese of Pennsylvania without the devotion of that big company of clergy and laity who are the Diocese of Pennsylvania. I salute you!

A recently published small volume which some of you may have seen is entitled: "Children's Letters to God." Among the contents, which are both hilarious and thought-provoking, are the following: "Dear God: Count me in. Your friend, Herbie." "Dear God: Are boys better than girls? I know you are one but try to be fair (signed) Sylvia." And then, from a boy who did not get promoted to the next grade: "Dear God: I got left back. Thanks a lot! (signed) Raymond." "Dear God: My teacher read us the part where all the Jews went through where the water was and got away. Keep up the good work. I am Jewish. Love, Paula." And then this one: "Dear God: Are you real? Some people don't believe it. If you are, you better do something quick. (signed) Harriet Ann." Harriet Ann's years should excuse her poor theology. God has done, is doing and will do everything He, in His infinite wisdom and love, sees fit to do. Harriet Ann's question suggests rather the problem of adequate witness — bearing, of adequate testimony, of the adequate proclamation of the Good News. This sounds very much like a problem not of what God should do but of what man should do — and particularly the Church. How can the Church adequately proclaim the reality of God to this wonderful but weary and bewildered world in which we live?

In the year 1967, there are certain issues before this world. They have not always been. They will not always be. But they are certain to be center stage for the predictable future. The outcome of these issues is determinative, if not desperate, for the future of humanity. These problems are familiar on Broad Street and in Delaware County, in Singapore and New Delhi.

Think of them for a moment. First is the problem of war. Can this world find a way to walk that narrow corridor to permanent peace — the only corridor which leads to the future?

Secondly, the problem of poverty. How long can the southern hemisphere be expected to look at the northern hemisphere with eyes that are sullen with hunger? How long can the poor in this country? In this city?

Thirdly, the urgent and unfinished business of race relations. How long before employment, housing, and the other essentials of human dignity reflect the laws of God, the statutes of government, the resolutions of church bodies, and the protests of the deprived?

Fourthly, the burden of poor education. Thomas Jefferson asserted that an educated citizenry is essential to the proper functioning of democracy. This is even more true of our highly technological age. Can the little red school house in our minds be replaced by the necessary educational parks and other expressions of a quality integrated educational system before it is too late?

Fifthly, the political puzzle of outmoded municipal government. Can the common life and unity of a whole metropolitan area find appropriate political expression before this metropolis, and others, is Balkanized, fragmented, to destruction? And can that political expression be so representatively democratic that it can build with human values as well as with brick and mortar?

I mention these clamorous and critical problems for two reasons. One reason is that they have a claim on us, as followers of Him whom God sent because He loved this world. They are not "those" problems, they are our problems. Not only are we involved in mankind, we care for mankind.

The other reason is that the same world-wide ferment, of which these problems are illustrative, is found in all areas of contemporary life. And, therefore, not surprisingly, also in the Church. These problems reflect a pattern of new situations which have produced new needs and the urgency of them requires new solutions. So with the Church. New situations have produced new needs, and the urgency of them clamors for more adequate solutions. And just as the world is being called to be more inclusive in order to be whole, so is the Church. Even though, in the Church as in the world, new solutions can only be purchased at the price of confusion and uncertainty.

Let me speak to five aspects of our common life in this diocese which illustrate what I mean. First, how can we retain valid, traditional expressions of the Church's life, and at the same time reach out to needed, newer forms? For we need both.

Perhaps the most familiar expression of the Church, in our experience, is the parish. This is where we find our religious home. This Diocese would not be where and what it is today were it not for the faithful parish ministries of hundreds of thousands of devoted clergy and laity, living and dead, over the many generations since the Church first came to Pennsylvania. And the financial resources which have provided the means for the development and extension of the Church, these too have been provided almost entirely by the parishes.

But the question today is: can the parish go it alone, or is it called, with the rest of God's world, to be more inclusive in order to be whole? It is true that many congregations can go it alone, financially. It is also true that many congregations cannot go it alone financially. But it is even more importantly true that no congregation can go it alone in terms of its mission, its responsibility for service, in this new and very complex world.

How can we respond to this new demand? A very careful and thorough report on our convocation system will be considered at this Convention. If adopted, it will provide for smaller, more flexible groupings of parishes, with greater opportunities for parishes to learn to live and work together in a fuller, more fruitful way.

One hundred fifty laymen, whom we call Prime Consultants, representing more than half of the congregations of the Diocese, have given generously of their time and devotion to visit virtually all of the parishes of the Diocese in order to interpret the Diocesan program. These laymen, missionaries, as it were, sent out from their own parishes, are a symbol of a larger parish life. The new grows out of the old, and strengthens it.

The Church of the Advocate is still another illustration. In accordance with the request of our last Convention, a committee of laymen, with professional assistance, has been making an exhaustive study of the ministry of this church. Initiated by Bishop Armstrong, the thrust of the ministry of that church beyond its parish rolls out into the community, to all sorts and conditions of men, would gladden his heart.

Father Zimmer with his knowledgeable and sensitive ministry to areas of tension serves as another illustration. Father Hewett, in his unique ministry to the unchurched poor of the ghetto, serves as another illustration. But we could go on. One parish is providing a loan fund to assist missions in needed expansion. Several parishes and missions have yoked themselves together for a richer mutual ministry to each other. Another parish is providing a high quality school for its neighborhood. Several of our parishes are making their facilities available for the new Head Start program of education for preschool children.

We are more faithful, as a diocese, because of these extensions of our ministry. We are responding to the call to be more inclusive, in order that we may be more whole. We are retaining the valid traditional expression of the Church's life, and at the same time reaching out to needed, newer forms. This we must continue to do.

A second call to inclusiveness is the need to work more effectively with the other denominations. One of the most prevailing winds blowing in our time is the wind of ecumenicity. Our Church nationally has been participating seriously in the Consultations on Church Union. Our diocesan Committee on Ecumenical Relations is working on plans whereby the people of this Diocese can be given opportunities to participate in these deliberations on a local level. Several years ago our National Church set a policy that it would inaugurate no new college work on its own if there was any opportunity to do that same work ecumenically. The National Church is about to adopt the same policy with reference to the establishment of new urban ministries.

And yet interdenominational cooperation is a factor which we must take much more seriously than we have. Like the parish, our Diocese has a valid tradition of its own ministry to carry on. Like the parish, the Diocese cannot go it alone, if it is faithful to its mission.

A third call to inclusiveness is our responsibility to the National Church. This has its financial aspects. The Treasurer of the Diocese, Mr. Ritchie, the Budget Committee and the Department of Finance have spent many hours on this problem alone, thinking as responsibly as they can about this.

The General Convention of our Church, meeting this year in Seattle, will be asked to consider a new approach called the Partnership Plan. This plan represents an effort to get away from arbitrary, mathematical quotas for dioceses, asking them rather to be responsible stewards — as we in this Diocese ask of the parishes. We are attempting to do this, and the budget presentation will put before you the wisest recommendation we can make in this matter.

But why extend ourselves to be as generous as possible in our giving to the National Church? Where better than to a national body could we look for the basic guidelines and the strategies for coping with the pervasive, basic problems of the mission of the Church? Let me be very specific, since we are specifically involved. The Church everywhere needs new tools, new methods with which to deal with the new world of technology and industrialization, of mass media and mobility, of anonymity and helplessness so many people experience today. Our National Church has been providing discerning and thoughtful leadership in this area. A part of its strategy has been to designate certain dioceses as pilots, providing special attention and the support and consultation, in order that these pilot dioceses may lead the way for the rest of the Church. We, in this Diocese, have been designated as one of those pilots. We will learn, and we will teach. This is the kind of national strategy which so importantly deserves our best support.

A fourth mandate for inclusiveness to us, as a diocese, is that we cooperate with other secular institutions in our society, where their mission and ours coincide. The university has a mission, under God. So does industry. So do the arts. So, even, does Caesar, the national government. We need not reflect much on such problems as war, poverty, race relations, education and regional government to realize that the Church can minister effectively in these areas of need only if it joins forces with other allies. This is the missionary strategy behind the Metropolitan Associates of Philadelphia, that exciting, new missionary work about which we will hear more in this Convention, and which we, as a diocese, were able to help initiate. I attach great significance to this effort, simply because of the necessity of the Church's learning to work with secular institutions in all sectors of our public life. Without this cooperation, the mission of the Church will be short-circuited, and the light of the Gospel will grow dim.

The last call to inclusiveness which I would like to mention I am reluctant to mention. I am too old, since I now see two generations behind me in my own family. Yet perhaps precisely this perspective allows me to speak without prejudice. I refer to the young people of our Church, the young people of the world. Those incongruous, bearded, Honda-riding, demonstrating, drug-experimenting people,— who represent half of our population, who are becoming college educated by the millions, who are taking an increasing and intelligent interest in world affairs, who volunteer for the Peace Corps, who understand Einstein and the new math,— and who will certainly be responsible for this world and for the Church, the day after tomorrow.

Why do I speak of them as representing another major call to the Church to be more inclusive in order to be more whole? There have always been young people. Even you and I! And there has always been the gulf between the generations. Young people have always seemed to be headed for Hell, and they have always felt their parents were behind the times. But there is a difference today. The difference between the generations is eclipsed by the gulf between the eras — the old time and the new time. This new time has a new accent, a different language. Yet, for these young people, it is their mother tongue. They speak it like natives, because they were born here, in this new age. They need the experience and wisdom of their elders, true. They need the strong roots of their religious heritage most assuredly. But they also need to be freed to use that experience and wisdom in their own way, to grow their own blossoms from those religious roots — because their immigrant parents, you and I, will never feel fully at home in this new era.

Every family knows this problem. Every parish knows this problem. It's not easy to run away from home, but it's easy to stay away from church. Especially when the program and the language and the attitude of that church life, once meaningful to most, still meaningful to many, is nevertheless no longer meaningful to oneself. One of the most difficult, and one of the most desperately urgent, missionary challenges confronting the Church is the youth of America. I do not see how that challenge can adequately be met without the cooperation of the older members of our Church and society, bringing with them the wisdom and experience of their years.

There can be no doubt that this diocese is being called to be more inclusive, in order to be whole. How can we best respond to that call?

We recently announced the appointment of Archdeacon McCarty as Program Development Coordinator for the diocese. We hope soon to be able to announce the appointment of his successor as Archdeacon. But this new Program post, made possible by a generous gift from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodward, will be the research and development arm of the diocese. We see this as a diocesan effort involving maximum participation of both clergy and laity in setting diocesan objectives, and determining the strategy whereby those objectives can be carried out. It will take the best thinking of all of us, clergy and laity alike, to plan how to approach the kind of challenge which confronts us: new forms of ministry, greater ecumenical efforts, stronger support for the National Church, more cooperation with secular institutions, the ministry to young people. Indeed, one might call this entire effort a program of continuing education for clergy and laity alike, that we may all be nurtured and grow into deeper maturity, a greater wholeness, a more valid holiness. In the year 1967 it is exciting and reassuring to be a part of a diocese where there is real opportunity for significant growth, for signal service. To be a soldier of Christ serving with a good army, where one can be armed with the shield of faith and the sword of the Spirit, where the warfare is splendid and divine! So may it be. So may it be!

APPENDIX 8.0

DEPARTMENT OF LAYMEN'S WORK

1966 Report of the Chairman

The Department of Laymen's Work since its inception has made as its goal: "Increasing participation of laymen in work for our Lord, not only within the Church gathered, but also and especially in the Church scattered." We have kept in mind the four duties or divisions which were assigned to us and which have for the past three years been reduced to three. We have made every effort to be of assistance to individual parishes in their program for laymen, if and when they requested assistance of us. But we must confess this has been very, very seldom.

A representative from our department, (a retired layman) has visited some one hundred and nineteen times various parishes and missions, speaking with the rector or vicar on the ministry of the laymen. We must admit these visits have been limited to the convocations located in the western portion of the diocese, due mainly to the travel distance of our department representative who lives in Atglen, Pennsylvania. We "use" other retired men in our department work if any are interested.

Representatives from the Catholic Laymen's Union, the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, the Philadelphia Church Club and the Fellowship of St. Dismas have officially become members of our department during the past year. By this method our department has liaison with the various men's organizations which function on a diocesan basis. And we in turn are kept informed of the programs of these various organizations, giving support where possible.

In addition to the support we give the men's organizations we have attempted during the past year to "think" and "work" with the Episcopal Church Women on a combined program to a lesser degree. It has been suggested that perhaps we should consider having a Department of the Laity as do some other dioceses, which possibly could strengthen the overall program of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. This has been suggested to those who are studying the diocesan program for the future.

It has been customary for the department to have one conference or similar program a year for all the men of the diocese. Our 1966 Conference, which was held during the month of November, was one of the longest in time we have ever attempted. From the spiritual results which were obtained it seemed to be one of the most successful during our six year period of existence.

The theme of the Conference, "Witnessing Laymen Make Living Parishes" actually was "stolen" from an address given by the leader of our conference the Rev. Claxton Monro, of St. Stephen's Parish, Houston, Texas. In addition to Mr. Monro, we had two of his laymen come with him, who witnessed to our conferees. Also, we had from the Wilmington, Delaware, area a parish priest and three of his laymen. All of these men took an active part in "witnessing" and sharing their ministry with us. The Diocese of Newark, New Jersey, was represented by laymen. Actually, I have never experienced so much spiritual stimulation of the Holy Spirit within a group of Episcopal Church men as I did during our 1966 conference. I pray that we may have others like it. Possibly our department could arrange for one similar in nature during 1967. If you would care to know more about this and other programs for your parish, we would be pleased to try and help you. There is considerable reading material available for those who would care to study the methods being used in the Texas parish. And also there are one or two tape recordings which can be purchased which we understand give considerable detail.

DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL RELATIONS

Annual Report

In keeping with its function as defined by canon, the Department of Christian Social Relations has assisted the Diocesan Council in formulating policy positions on a number of important matters. In the area of Fair Housing two actions were taken: on June 10, Diocesan Council adopted a resolution favoring equality of housing opportunity in suburban areas; on October 14, adopted a further resolution concerning revision of the city ordinances to provide for closing the gaps in those provisions dealing with equal housing inside the city. In the area of education Diocesan Council on October 15 adopted a resolution supporting the bond issue for the public school system, and calling on all church people to support this at the polls. The resolution of June 10, supporting increased grants to dependent children, also originated in the Department of Christian Social Relations.

Following up on these resolutions, the staff or members of the department testified before public bodies. In the area of education we testified on January 31 before the Task Force Hearings on public education in Philadelphia, and on July 27 we testified on the Church-State issues in the federally-funded programs of the Philadelphia schools. On June 8 we testified before the Pennsylvania House Appropriations Committee, supporting the call for increased grants for public assistance clients. On August 5 the Executive Secretary testified before the Sub-committee on Constitutional Amendments of the Senate Judiciary Committee, opposing a constitutional amendment which would have modified the religion clause of the First Amendment of the Federal Constitution by providing for religious exercises under government sponsorship. Reflecting the various positions of the diocese, testimony was given on August 10 and 20 before the platform committees of the major Pennsylvania political parties.

Another function of the department is to serve as consultant to officials, departments, and committees of the diocese on social welfare questions. The request for such service by the department staff has been heavier in 1966 than ever before.

In keeping with the provision of the canon, the department has cooperated with a number of agencies in the community: the Health and Welfare Council, intergroup relations agencies, the Philadelphia and Pennsylvania Councils of Churches, the Central Committee on Christian Social Relations of the Five Dioceses in Pennsylvania.

The Division of World Relief and Inter-Church Aid resettled two refugee families from Cuba during 1966. It worked with seven families it previously resettled in the area, and with one refugee family which was referred to it by one of our clergy. The division, which has responsibility for reminding church people in the diocese of the opportunity to support World Relief through the Presiding Bishop's Fund, reports that church people in the diocese contributed $22,739.97 in 1965. Although additional funds have been coming in since November 1, 1966, the total to date for this year has been $21,077.38.

The department has served to secure clergy and lay participation in the 1966 Washington Churchmen's Seminar and the 1966 Clergy Economic Education Foundation Conference.

Two committees of the department have met regularly each month during the year: the Committee on the Christian and His Daily Work and the Racial Understanding Committee. Certain other committees, for example, the Church-State Committee, have met on occasions. One of the most interesting developments in terms of committees is the recently appointed Re-study Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Barbara Rollins. It is seeking ways to deepen the relationship between the department and the parishes, in order to sharpen the moral sensitivity of church people to the social issues of the day and to increase the department's usefulness to the diocese as a whole.

Although the department is only in part responsible, its membership has been gratified by the seriousness with which the diocese's concern for the life of the entire community is regarded with increasing respect by the structures of the community. Similarly, it is a source of gratification that, although much more remains to be done, there is an increasing sense of interdependence between church people in city and suburbs for their common stake as Christians in social welfare.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL W. SEEMAN

APPENDIX 8.2

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNICATIONS

During the year just past the Department of Communications has broadened the scope of its activities to include:

1. Working cooperatively with the Department of Financial Resources and the Prime Consultants to mount the Every-Parish Consultations held in the spring and fall of the year. This included the production of a film strip for the fall meetings.

2. The planning and carrying out of the seven Bishop's Clergy Conferences held during the fall.

3. The furnishing of the clergy of the diocese, members of the Standing Committee, members of the Diocesan Council and the Prime Consultants with information — in advance when possible — concerning key current issues in and activities of the diocese.

In addition, the routine activities of publishing the Church News, issuing appropriate press releases and publishing the Diocesan Directory and the Convention Journal have been carried out.

The Reverend Theodore F. Jones came to the Department as Executive Secretary in January and since then has assumed additional responsibilities as Executive Secretary of the Diocese.

Mrs. Ruth Malone assumed the position of Editor of the Church News in May. She brings to this position a broad experience in newspaper and magazine work and free-lance writing in the Philadelphia area. We are pleased to report that her article "Is God Obsolete?", which appeared in the April, 1966 issue of the Greater Philadelphia Magazine, has won for her the George Leidt Award, presented by the Presiding Bishop, for the best piece of religious writing to appear in the secular press.

Miss Allison Watts joined the department in October with prime responsibility for building up the advertising revenues for the Church News.

Mrs. Jacquelyn Tindley, who is the department's secretary, came to us from another department in Church House. Her knowledge and experience gained from her 5 years employment at Church Houes has proved invaluable to the new team.

I am indebted to all members of the department for their interest and help and support. We are particularly indebted to Mr. Thomas Bright for his help in evaluating the advertising possibilities of the Church News.

The department looks forward to expanding its service to the Bishop, diocesan departments, and the diocese as a whole during the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,
GEORGES CAROUSSO

APPENDIX 8.3

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

Annual Report 1966

The Department held five regular meetings and two special meetings during 1966 with speical committees meeting in between.

The Department reports that all bills of the Diocese and its commitment to the Executive Council have been paid in full.

In February the Department considered and approved the idea of the Prime Consultants Program.

At the direction of last year's Convention, a study of Diocesan reserves was made and the Department reports that reserves are under constant consideration, but because our needs may change from time to time a standard figure cannot be used; however, our present reserves are in excess of $300,000 and considered adequate at this time.

The Department has noted that it is most important to keep the budget in balance and is recommending such a budget for 1967.

In June the Reverend Thorne Sparkman, S.T.D., resigned as Chairman of the Department to accept a call in the Diocese of South Carolina. The Department wishes to record its appreciation for his fine leadership and devotion over the years. Dr. Sparkman was succeeded as Chairman by W. Charles Hogg, Jr., Esq. of Trinity Church, Swarthmore.

The following sub-committees report to the Department:

Financial Safeguards — Chairman, Mr. George F. Ilsemann, Jr., of Calvary, Germantown. This committee is charged with reviewing parish audits, etc.

Insurance Committee — Chairman, Mr. Edward C. Sommer of St. David's, Radnor. This committee is currently reviewing areas of medical, life and liability insurance.

Salary and Personnel Committee — Chairman, Mr. Robert B. Seidel of St. Martin's, Radnor. During 1966 a personnel manual describing Diocesan policies was prepared and accepted.

Budget Committee — Chairman, Mr. S. Stoney Simons of St. Paul's, Chestnut Hill. A new method of presentation has been approved.

A committee has been formed to study our Diocesan Assessment Formula and the possibility of adopting a unified budget. This report will be made next year.

Respectfully submitted,

W. Charles Hogg, Jr.
Chairman

APPENDIX 8.4

DEPARTMENT OF MISSIONS

Annual Report for 1966

Several personnel, administrative, and building changes occurred in the Department of Missions in 1966.

In January, the old, unoccupied vicarage for All Saints' Church, Fallsington, was sold. Mr. Walter J. Robertson joined the members of the Department of Missions.

In March, the Rev. Richard K. Fenn, vicar of Epiphany Church, Royersford, accepted a call to become vicar of St. Philip's Church, New Hope, replacing the Rev. William Powel who retired.

In June, the congregations of Ascension Church and Holy Trinity, West Chester, merged. The Rev. William Henderson Hill, vicar, joined the clerical staff at Holy Trinity Church and remains in his present cure at St. Cyril's, Coatesville, also. The Rev. Peter E. Camp was appointed to be curate at Good Shepherd Church, Hilltown, replacing the Rev. Peter Greenfield, who resigned to accept a call to the Diocese of Harrisburg. The Rev. Jesse F. Anderson, Jr., vicar of House of Prayer, went to the Diocese of Washington. The Rev. Robert E. DuBose, Jr., associate rector of St Barnabas', Haddington, resigned his post there, and moved to House of Prayer as vicar. The Rev. James E. Morris, vicar at St. Mary of the Annunciation Church, resigned to continue his studies at the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry in New York. The Rev. William J. Shepherd, vicar of St. Barnabas', Kensington, resigned. The Rev. H. Francis Hines, who is working with the Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches, was assigned to St. Andrew's Mission, Belmont Hills.

The Rev. Raymond E. Cole, Jr., curate at Grace Church, Mount Airy, was appointed to be vicar of Epiphany Church, Royersford, in September. The Ven. Robert E. McCloskey of the Diocese of Massachusetts came to Philadelphia to join Metropolitan Associates of Philadelphia as an urban agent. Also serving M.A.P. as a worker-priest is the Rev. Hendrick B. Koning. Mr. Robert McLean represents the Episcopal Church as a lay worker. The Rev. David C. Pettit resigned as vicar of St. Ambrose Church and priest-in-charge of Christ Church, Franklinville, to serve at the U. S. Air Defense Center at Fort Bliss, Texas. Property was purchased in Worcester Township; and property in Tredyffrin Township between Pugh Road and West Valley Road, was sold. After considerable study, a resolution was adopted by the Department of Missions to purchase property in Maple Glen. As yet, the site has not been found.

Several personnel changes occurred during the month of October. The Rev. Canon Alfred Vail, chairman of the department, resigned to accept a call to become rector of Church of the The Redeemer, Cincinnati, Ohio. On his resignation, the Rev. Peter C.

Van der Hiel, Jr. was elected to the chairmanship. The Very Rev. Robert S. Harris completed his term of office as Dean of the North Philadelphia Convocation and the Rev. H. Roberts Lorenz was elected to the office. The Rev. Bayard C. Carmiencke, rector of St. James' Church, Westernport, Maryland, was called to Christ Church, Franklinville, as priest-in-charge, and to St. Ambrose' Church as vicar.

In November, the Church of the Ascension, West Chester, was sold. The name of the mission at the Episcopal Cathedral has officially been designated as "St. Mary's Church at the Cathedral."

St. Dunstan's Church, Blue Bell, completed their new building and the church was dedicated by Bishop DeWitt on December eleventh.

During the course of the year, the Rev. Clayton K. Hewett, urban missioner, worked with and through The Young Great Society. This is a group of young people in the Mantua area of Philadelphia, who are ably assisting the people there to help themselves. At the same time, the Rev. Layton P. Zimmer, urban missioner, has represented the Church in many areas of tension.

Respectfully submitted,

THE REV. PETER C. VAN DER HIEL, JR.

APPENDIX 8.4.1

REPORT OF THE URBAN MISSIONER

For six weeks in January and February of 1966, as a Fellow at the College of Preachers, I had an opportunity to study and analyze the relationship of the Church as an institution to the needs of men. In Philadelphia, at the same time, the Black People's Unity Movement was growing, and the early spring was filled with countless meetings and an attempt to understand and relate to this precursor of Black Power philosophy.

With the Advisory Committee, plans were laid for the summer staff program and decisions as to personnel to be hired were completed. Once again, the Church and Race Fund of our Executive Council funded this work. Seven young people were hired for the summer to work in conjunction with three different parish programs, two settlement house programs, and in person-to-person relating with gangs, Civil Rights groups, and other indigenous organizations in the slum ghettos of Philadelphia.

The whole staff worked closely with the Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches in organizing the Crusade for Children, seeking to persuade State legislators to raise the quite inadequate sum given to children through the Aid to Dependent Children (A.D.C.) program. After several demonstrations at the capitol in Harrisburg, an all-night vigil outside the State Building in Philadelphia, and a demonstration at City Hall, as well as after extensive behind-the-scenes communication with individual political leaders, a slight increase was granted.

Throughout the summer, and through the early fall after the summer staff had dispersed, I attempted to pursue the same ministry of communication and encouragement to others that had proven so helpful in the summer of 1965 in averting violence and riot. During the same period of time, the summer staff and I cooperated closely with the planning and carrying out of the various activities of Project F.R.E.E. in regard to discriminatory real estate practices on the Main Line.

After the publication of the philosophy of self-determination for Negroes popularly called "Black Power," the need for increased communication and interpretation of these turbulent and seemingly threatening developments indicated that we should develop a News Letter which might fill this role for those who were interested. Such a project had been favorably discussed in Advisory Committee for sometime, and we finally began mailing out such an intermittent communication in August.

At the present time, my efforts are spread over a broad range of relatively non-controversial activities such as helping individual cases of people who seem to be suffering more than others in poverty; attempting to study and evaluate the meaning of this past two years of experimental work with an eye toward shaping it to being more effective in the future; remaining involved with as many public and private groups working in the field of human rights as possible; most notable being the Delaware Valley Fair Housing Council of which I am chairman of the Board of Directors.

The important problems in this work are:
As far as human rights are concerned, the continuing problem of simply keeping up with, understanding and seeking to interpret all that happens as fast as it happens for the Bishop and the Diocese;

Attempting to define and deal with the basic problems, rather than just with symptoms: the causes of poverty, the present atmosphere of violence in our society, implicit racism that still affects so many of our institutional structures, including our Church;

Developing communications and sharing concerns within the body of the Church itself so that our response to the desperate needs of men in our tense, disoriented urban society may be one of increasingly effective concern in the name of Christ.

Respectfully submitted,

THE REV. LAYTON P. ZIMMER

APPENDIX 8.5

CORPORATION FOR CHRISTIAN WORK IN EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

Report of The President to the Diocesan Convention 1967

With increasing enrollment in the educational institutions and continuing expansion of the work with other church boards, foundations, and campus ministries, the work and scope of the Corporation for Christian Work in Educational Institutions has broadened, and new directions have been taken in many areas.

There are nine full-time chaplains and sixteen part-time chaplains and other field workers working co-operatively with the corporation. The Rev. George C. Field is a recent addition to the group, acting in the capacity of staff chaplain to the corporation, and serving the ecumenical needs of the Philadelphia Community College and Moore College of Art. Mr. Field's arrival completes the development program authorized by the Convention five years ago.

In September, 1966, the corporation sponsored a conference for college students at the Diocesan Conference Center entitled "Count-Down for College IV." This was also ecumenically sponsored, bringing together Episcopal students and clergy as well as those from other denominations. The corporation held a general meeting at Old St. Peter's Church, at Third and Pine Streets in Philadelphia, in October, 1966, at which the Rev. Joseph Trimble described at length his work on the campus of Lincoln University and in the community of Oxford.

The annual Academic Community Service and Dinner was again sponsored by the corporation. The Rev. Daisuke Kitagawa, D.D., Executive Secretary of the College and University Division of the Episcopal Church, was the preacher, while Professor James Farmer, recently-appointed Professor of Social Welfare at Lincoln University, was the speaker at dinner. His subject was "Protest: Its Use and Abuse in the University." The dinner was attended by students, faculty members of various educational institutions, administrators, and friends from colleges in the diocese.

Under the leadership of the director, the Rev. William E. Blewett, Ph.D., special committees have been set up to further the work of the corporation in different educational areas:

A. The Committee on Higher Education has been planning and recommending a program for clergy to help increase their understanding of the modern university. Plans are projected for a seminar in co-operation with one of the universities which will involve forty to fifty parish clergy, followed by programs for parish groups whose clergy have participated in the seminars.

B. The Committee on Secondary Education has been planning a seminar for private and public school faculty and administrators to explore the relationship of worship and education. A conference on the theology of teaching, sponsored by the Corporation and the Episcopal Academy, is planned for April.

C. Under the auspices of the Committee on Voluntary Service, nineteen Episcopal Churches and four non-Episcopal Churches sponsored twelve summer service projects during July and August of 1966. Over 260 high-school and college students and other adults were recruited and trained to provide leadership for these programs, in which more than thirteen hundred children participated. The programs, which varied in duration from three to seven weeks, included Bible schools, day camps, general tutoring, remedial reading, and drama. Evaluation of 1966 projects and planning for 1967 is already underway.

Serious thought was given to the need for greater co-ordination of the work and ministry in the University City area. To this end, the corporation instructed the director to make contact with other agencies at work in that area. The Metropolitan Strategy Committee was requested to call a Consultation, and to convene it. This the committee agreed to do, and Dr. Blewett was commissioned to act as co-ordinator and expediter. As a result, a Consultation was held in May, 1966, over two days, during which sixty-four participants, representing seventeen units or agencies which have an interest or share in the ministry in University City, and representatives of three other community agencies were present. Of the problems presented and discussed, the outstanding one seemed to be that of communication in relation to the role of the parishes in the midst of the changing dynamics of the university area.

The continued response of friends of the corporation to the annual solicitation appeal provides a small but significant portion of the funds required to carry out the work of the corporation.

The activities of Dr. Blewett, Director of the Corporation, have included the following:

A. In the summer of 1966, at the request of the Committee on Voluntary Service of the Executive Council of the Episcopal Church, he visited South Africa and Swaziland, to prepare service projects to be held in the summer of 1967.

B. He is the Vice-President of the Protestant Advisory Board at Temple University and serves on the Center City Christian Council, the Main Line Ecumenical Campus Committee, the Drexel Protestant Advisory Board, the Middle Atlantic Regional Counseling Commission, and the Metropolitan Strategy Committee.

C. He is a member of the National Council of Churches' Commission on Ecumenical Voluntary Service Projects and is Chairman of the Strategy Committee for Campus Ministry in Pennsylvania, where he represents the Episcopal Church. He is also a member of the National Commission for College Work of the Episcopal Church, as a representative of the Third Province.

Members of the corporation as of this time are: President, Mrs. Raymond A. Ballinger; Vice-President, the Rev. John J. Albert (elected Vice-President November 1966 following the resignation from the Corporation of Henry Wells, Ph.D., Vice-President); Secretary, Anthony W. Ridgway; Treasurer, John Butterworth, Esquire (elected to full membership from associate membership November, 1966); the Very Rev. Jesse F. Anderson, Sr., S.T.D. (elected November, 1966); E. Digby Baltzell, Ph.D.; Mrs. Karl H. Beyer; E. Osborne Coates; The Rev. Warren H. Davis, Jr.; J. Hazen Hardy, Esquire; The Very Rev. Edward G. Harris, D.D.; The Rev. C. Edward Hopkin, Ph.D.; The Rev. Stanley Johnson; Mrs. Robert L. Kendall, Jr.; The Rev. Edward B. Pollanick; and The Rev. Elbert K. St. Claire.

The work of the corporation is developing a wider sphere of co-operative work with students and faculty at the secondary and college levels. It is providing leadership in related services of an ecumenical nature and is also strengthening the work in general in many areas of the Church and in educational communities in the diocese, the state, the province, and the nation.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUISE B. BALLINGER, President
(Mrs. Raymond A. Ballinger)

APPENDIX 8.6

DIOCESAN CONFERENCE CENTER

Picnics

The new thing at the Conference Center in 1966 was parish picnics. Picnics ranging in size from about twenty to over one hundred were held here by five parishes and a day nursery. In addition, one parish brought its day camp here several times for instruction in swimming and water safety, (no meals), and the Department of Christian Education held its annual day at Denbigh for young people on the first Saturday in June. Total attendance for these groups was about 800.

Swimming Pool

After the last of the five summer youth conferences, the pool was opened to clergy and families again this year. Total attendance of more than 800 included about 185 individuals.

Operations Statistics

During the calendar year, 1966, your Diocesan Conference Center was in use 240 days. A total of 5840 guests included 5030 in 117 groups related to our diocese, and 810 in 30 groups not related to the diocese. Receipts from operations totalled about $36,200, second highest in the history of the Center. The total included $26,250 from 18,430 meals and $8,830 from 5678 overnight lodgings. These totals compare with operating income of $32,100 in 1965, including $23,252 from 18,030 meals and $7,472 for 5,339 overnight lodgings. Because of the large volume of business, the deficit for the year is less than expected at the time the budget was made up.

Women's Committee

At the request of the Women's Committee, Mr. Charles E. Goodman, Jr., St. Martin's Church, Radnor, made new altar rails for the Chapel. The Women's Committee also purchased lamps, bedside tables and bedspreads for the bedrooms with funds contributed by parish women's groups; and held a tea to honor Bp. and Mrs. Swift, Canon and Mrs. Vail and Archdeacon and Mrs. McCarty. Mrs. Wistar MacLaren, Church of the Redeemer, Bryn Mawr, is the chairman of ths committee.

Other

Mrs. John Bishop, Swedeland, who had presided over Denbigh's kitchen since the first summer of operation in 1954, died suddenly in October, leaving a large gap in the small staff. She especially liked cooking for young people and working with them and is greatly missed.

Respectfully submitted,

Joseph Laird

APPENDIX 8.7

DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION DIOCESE OF PENNSYLVANIA

Annual Report of 1966

The Department of Christian Education has been involved with new faces, new and old programs, efforts of cooperation and self-evaluation in 1966. The new face that appeared on the horizon was that of Miss Joan Warner, assistant to the Executive Secretary. She has brought with her talents and experience which are helping us in immeasurable ways to get on with our task. We are most happy to have her in our midst.

Among the new programs is a most exciting one slated to begin in March of 1967 — "The Church School Trainers Program." This is to be a well-disciplined education and training program of a year's duration, for parish-sponsored lay persons, to enable them to help effectively in the Church School work of their particular parish.

We have continued to have clergy, directors of Christian education and lay people trained in the Three-Phase Institute program sponsored by the Mid-Atlantic Training Committee. Three persons are now in the process of training with more committed to going in the Spring. This on-going program will give the diocese a fine core of trainers for all sorts of educational and training events in the diocese.

Realizing that M.R.I. is not just a concept to talk about, but to act upon, the Dioceses of Bethlehem and Pennsylvania have entered into a cooperative training program: A joint conference on "Planning Skills" was held this year with more such projects planned for the future.

The department, aware of the tremendous changes that are occurring in our world, as well as the Church, has instituted a program of visitations to all of the parishes and missions of the diocese: to "listen" and hear what these congregations feel they need to help with their mission as the Church. After all of the information has been gathered, it will be analysed and new directions and programs will be proposed. During this period, which has been one of arduous work for some 50 clergy and lay persons, a moratorium on continuing programs has been held so we could get this done. We are most grateful for the "visitors' " work and the helpful information supplied by the parishes.

The department through its staff and members continues to serve both parishes and diocese through many programs and projects, and participates in many events on the local, provincial and national level. Among them in 1966 were:

—Training of Volunteers for Summer Service Projects

Consultation: The Rev. James C. Blackburn

The provision of consultants, to parishes who desired them, to help parishes to plan summer programs by setting purpose; planning and implementing plans; serving as resource persons.

Training: Miss Joan Warner

Voluntary Service Project Workshops — June 30-July 1 at Church of the Saviour, Philadelphia:

A two-day program led by skilled persons in music; books and story-telling; arts and crafts; drama; exploration of the urban situation and the nature of service.

—Fourth Annual Church Library Conference — March 26

Co-sponsors: Drexel Institute of Technology
Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches

—Annual Meeting, Department of Christian Education and Evangelism

Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches

Theme: RELIGION AND PUBLIC EDUCATION

Speaker: The Rev. Blaine Fister, Director, Department of Religion and Public Education, National Council of Churches

—Annual Province III Conference on Christian Education
College of Preachers, Washington, D. C.

—Second Annual Consultation on Christian Education and Urban Culture
Los Angeles, California

A meeting of seven metropolitan dioceses — to share common concerns; advantages and disadvantages.

The Executive Secretary serves on the:

—Executive Committee, Department of Christian Education and Evangelism, Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches
—Committee on Ecumenical Relations
—Diocesan Board, Episcopal Churchwomen
—Committee on Voluntary Service Projects
—Inter-Faith Exploratory Committee on Religious Education
—Windham House Board, New York
—Church Training and Deaconess Board, Philadelphia

Topics covered by department at its meetings:

—January 10 — Viewing and discussion of the film: PARABLE
Leader: The Rev. Warren H. Davis, Jr.
St. Christopher's Church, Gladwyne

—March 21 — THE NEW THEOLOGY . . . presentation and discussion
The Rev. Norman J. Faramelli,
St. Martin's Church, Oak Lane

—October 17 — DIFFICULTIES IN BELIEFS . . . presentation and discussion
The Rev. Paul M. Van Buren, Th.D., Associate Professor of Religion, Temple University, Philadelphia

Reports of division and committees:

ADULT DIVISION — The Rev. John F. Hardwick, Chairman

This division — accepting as its task Education for Mission in a Metropolitan Society, for clergy and laity — explored further the concept of small area meetings. A supper meeting was planned at St. Christopher's Church, Gladwyne, to which each clerical member of the division brought two lay persons, and each lay person brought a clergyman and a lay person. To provide new and common data (non-theological) for the discussions, Dr. David Popenoe, Director of Research of the Urban Study Center, Rutgers University, presented the trends he sees developing in the general metropolitan area in which we live and what he believed some of the implications are . . . this meeting provided data for future area meetings.

AUDIO-VISUAL COMMITTEE — Mrs. Walter W. Miller, Chairman

The new Audio-Visual card catalogue index was made available, in early Fall, to ninety member parishes of the diocese; ($3.00 rental fee, per year, to non-members).

At that time, after surmounting innumerable obstacles, the bulk of our filmstrip library (approximately 700 items) was transferred to Christian Youth Cinema, Glenside. CYC continues to act as distributing agent for the handling, booking and maintenance of our 16mm films.

Advance notification of the proposed change-over was mailed to the clergy of the diocese in May; followed by the sending of Rules and Procedure regarding the new set-up.

Cost of membership in the cooperative is now $15.00 per year, and does not include use of 16mm films.

Without the guidance and wholehearted concern of Mrs. Walter W. Miller, chairman, many persons at St. Peter's, Glenside, and the enormous number of hours spent on this project, the new set-up could not have been effected.

After a trial period of four months the new method of operation will undergo review to test its feasibility.

CHILDREN'S DIVISION — Miss Elizabeth M. Rapley, Chairman

—January 15 — Mission Study Workshop, Philadelphia Divinity School

Theme: MISSION: THE CHRISTIAN'S CALLING

Dialogue: The Rev. John F. Hardwick
St. Peter's, Glenside
The Rev. James A. Trimble, Chaplain
Episcopal Academy

Discussion groups and Resources, led by lay leaders of the diocese and elsewhere — for all age levels: pre-school to adult.

—June 4 — Vacation Church School Institute, First Baptist Church, 17th & Sansom Sts., Philadelphia

Sponsored by. Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches and supported by Department of Christian Education

Workshops and study sessions in administration, kindergarten through junior high, resources, vacation church schools in inner-city churches.

—Spring 1966 — Memorandum from Room 30
(Only one issue produced this year due to limited staff in office.)

Articles on Ascension, Whitsuntide, Trinity, Church School Evaluation, Vacation Church School, Suggestions for Church School Superintendents, Youth Conferences and Programming.

—PRESENTATION SERVICE COMMITTEE
(Church School Missionary Offering)
The Rev. Edward B. Pollanick, Chairman

—May 15 Mission Festival — on the grounds of the Cathedral Church of Christ, Roxborough — with procession of choirs — at 4:00 P.M.

—Highlight: Liturgical drama presentation . . . FOR ALL THE SAINTS, written and directed by the Rev. Jere Berger, Trinity, Swarthmore. Participants: Diocesan Youth Council, the Rt. Rev. A. Ervine Swift, S.T.D.

—Offering: $19,000

—Objective: Domestic — for programs designated to train and support Christians to work with children and young people who are suffering the insecurities of modern life.

Overseas — for programs designated to train vitally needed lay leadership of the Church in North and Central America, Africa, Pakistan, Japan and Melanesia.

—Attendance: 2,000 participants, including Junior Choirs — from 50 parishes.

CHURCH SCHOOL-BY-MAIL COMMITTEE The Rev. Joseph H. Laird, Chairman

The program of Church School-by-Mail ends the year with an enrollment of 29 children. This includes 23 living in outlying districts, unable to attend a regular Church School; and six who are sick or handicapped, enrolled from three parishes. One outlying parish provided workers to mail and correct the lessons and to visit the families in their area.

The children responded with written work and letters and phone calls. All the families were visited and at that time showed their appreciation and interest. The children participated in the Church School Missionary Offering project.

The lesson material, postage and Christmas presents were provided by money from the scholarship fund which is given by Church Schools, the Episcopal Churchwomen, and others.

YOUTH DIVISION The Rev. John F. Leser, Chairman

—Eastern Consultation on Youth Ministry, September 19-25 — at Denbigh Leader: The Rev. F. Reid Isaac, Executive Council
Representative: The Rev. V. Richard Hawkins, All Saints, Wynnewood

—Youth Advisors' Training Sessions, October 22 and November 12 — Trinity, Oxford and St. Alban's, Newtown Square (simultaneously)
Sessions included non-Episcopalians — through the Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches.

—October 30-November 4 — Phase I, Mid-Atlantic, Three-Phase Institute

Roslyn Conference Center, Richmond, Virginia

A Team of three from this diocese participated.

The chairman serves as a member of the Mid-Atlantic Training Committee, an informal organization of trainers and representatives of diocesan training committees in the middle Atlantic area. The committee includes members from the Episcopal Dioceses of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Washington, Virginia, East Carolina, Southwestern Virginia and West Virginia. Close ties are maintained with the Training Services Area of the Executive Council's Department of Christian Education.

The overall purpose of the committee is to coordinate and advance the use of training within and among the member dioceses and other jurisdictions.

The Executive Secretary joins the chairman in expressing deep appreciation for the creative and outstanding work of the staff in Room 30, and of all members of the department — its divisions and committees.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE CHURCH OF THE ADVOCATE

RESOLVED, that this Convention request the Diocesan Council to reevaluate the experimental Diocesan program at the Church of the Advocate and to report back with definite recommendations to the Convention of 1967.

Your committee has met regularly since it was convened by you. It has met on separate occasions with, in addition to yourself, (1) The Rector of the Church of the Advocate, (2) The Curate, (3) The Vestry and the Bishop's Auxiliary Vestry, (4) The Trustees, (5) Individuals in the neighborhood (in their homes), (6) The Rector of St. Simeon's Episcopal Church, 9th and Lehigh, (7) The Pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 9th and Lehigh, (8) The Archdeacon of the Diocese.

Your committee is greatly indebted to the Executive Council of the Episcopal Church for making the Reverend Charles Glenn available to it. Prior to the deliberations of the committee Mr. Glenn had spent the better part of a month studying the Church of the Advocate and its program at first hand. His training, perception and experience gained in the major urban areas of the United States together with his competence were of invaluable help to your committee.

The Church of the Advocate has become "an outward and visible sign" of the commitment of the Diocese of Pennsylvania and the churches, clergy and congregations comprising it to involvement in the struggle against race hatred and poverty in the slums of Philadelphia. One's viewpoint on whether such a commitment is good and necessary — whether it is an inevitable product of the Christian Gospel — will profoundly effect any evaluation made of the work of the Church of the Advocate and will equally influence the reaction of those to whom such an evaluation is presented.

At the outset therefore, we think it wise to state the position of the committee that a commitment to the struggle against color as a barrier to the love of man for his neighbor is right and proper — a necessary concern of the church. In this respect, this report is "biased" against any suggestion involving the discontinuance of the work being done at the Church of the Advocate under the Rev. Paul Washington.

1. The Building

Any visitor to the Advocate is impressed by the church building, a handsome and perhaps irreplaceable monument. "It looks," one of us commented, "the way a church should look!" Few dioceses in the country have a cathedral as impressive.

For the ministry of the Advocate to its neighborhood and to the social and religious issues of our time, however, the committee was forced to conclude that the Advocate's church building is useless. It is far too large for any forceseable congregation to support, much less fill. Its style discourages warmth and participation. We recommend:

a. That the Diocese take over directly the use, support and maintenance of the Advocate church building because of its size, splendor, and location in the heart of an area of special concern to the whole diocese.

b. That the congregation of the Church of the Advocate continue to use the buildings for worship and other parochial needs and be charged with a proportion of the budget in keeping with (1) its degree of use and (2) the potential resources of the congregation — thus reducing to realistic size the financial aid from the diocese attributable to the activities of the parish.

2. The Rev. Paul Washington

The committee finds that Fr. Washington has an important and unique ministry in interpreting the feelings of an important element of the Philadelphia population. He is trusted by many who trust few or no other ministers. His work as a member of city-wide committees and in relation to city agencies is important for the diocese as well as for the North Philadelphia community. His discussions of "Black Power" in suburban Philadelphia have contributed significantly to understanding and communication.

"No one could do what Washington is doing and build a congregation, said one North Philadelphia minister who admires and values his work. The committee feels that this should be recognized by the diocese; that Fr. Washington should be seen as working for the diocese as well as for the Church of the Advocate. We recommend:

a. That there be included in the diocesan budget a part of Fr. Washington's salary and expenses which accurately reflects the large and growing portion of his work for the Diocese.

b. that in consultation with the Bishop he delegate some of his responsibilities at the Advocate, but continue as rector, with unchanged canonical authority and responsibilities;

c. that he be given official standing as a representative of the Bishop in the urban program of the Diocese under appropriate diocesan supervision.

3. The Congregation

The committee feels that it is important to build a neighborhood-based congregation at the Advocate, not only to bring Christian teaching and worship to more residents of the neighborhood, but also to provide a living demonstration of a community of Christians. A good start has been made, chiefly through the summer programs, toward winning the confidence of the neighborhood; now there is need for follow-up. The committee visited one church in a similar neighborhood which is building such a congregation, and it is aware of similar efforts around the country. We recommend:

a. that the curate or assistant of the Advocate be given the assignment of working toward the continuing growth of an active worshipping congregation under Fr. Washington's supervision;

b. that when circumstances permit, the parish hire a parish visitor, preferably a member of the congregation, to do extensive calling particularly on summer program families, seeking to relate them to the worshipping congregation under the direction of the curate or assistant.

c. that the recreational and other non-devotional programs at the Advocate be re-evaluated as they relate to the worship of the congregation.

4. The Neighborhood

The Advocate is located in the center of the area of greatest urban blight in Philadelphia. Its facilities are extensive; the needs of the neighborhood are even more so. Progress has been made through the efforts of the staff of the Advocate, but these efforts need to be increased and coordinated. We recommend:

a. that the possibility of interdenominational staffing and financing of a program operating out of the Advocate facilities to serve Lower North Philadelphia be explored with due regard for restrictions contained in the existing trust agreements.

b. that, as a concrete first step toward such a joint program, the Advocate summer program be attempted on an interdenominational basis this year.

5. Black Power

The committee was not charged with evaluating the Black Power movement as such, nor has it attempted to do so. It has found no evidence that the Advocate has encouraged or supported activities dangerous to our society or inimical to our faith. Fr. Washington's concern with the Black Power movement is a legitimate expression of his ministry, as is the Church's work among other groups in our society — in the military service, in hospitals, and wherever else special conditions of ministry are necessary.

We feel it would be tragic for our Church to decide that this is one group to whom we cannot have a ministry. It would be against our best traditions. On the other hand, we think it would be more healthy for the life of any parish for it to share the total burden of this controversial ministry. We recommend:

a. that in addition to the Advocate several alternate facilities, including if possible, some belonging to other denominations, be sought for meetings of a controversial nature;

b. that a continuing effort be made to ensure fair and unsensational reporting of such meetings in the public media.

6. Diocesan Goals

The major problem encountered by the committee has been the lack of clearly defined goals on the part of diocesan and parochial leadership. Too many of the activities sponsored by or carried on at the Advocate have no clear relation to any long-range objectives. We recommend:

a. that Convention urge the Bishop to take counsel with his lay and clerical advisors and with members of the poverty community to clarify the goals of the Diocese in parishes such as the Advocate in the inner city;

b. that the scope of this self-examination extend beyond the Advocate to include other poverty neighborhoods.

c. that the Convention request the Bishop to appoint a committee to study the diocesan use of the Advocate building as recommended herein as well as the possible diocesan use of other church buildings in the diocese which serve no current practical use because of the decline of their congregations.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHURCH OF THE ADVOCATE TO THE CONVENTION OF THE DIOCESE OF PENNSYLVANIA

January 21, 1967

"They Were Stunned"

People were stunned on Sunday morning, January 1st, 1967, to see a priest of the Church fully attired in ecclesiastical vestments, dart out of the grand, stately doors of the Church of the Advocate into Gratz Street, up Diamond into 19th, pursuing a youth of about seventeen years of age.

He had just finished his sermon and was praying as he heard a commotion. This lad was snatching two pocketbooks from two women, and before these devout people, devoutly kneeling, could realize what was happening, they were robbed — and whatever they had in their purses was disappearing before they could even grasp the meaning of the moment.

By the time the chase reached half way through 19th Street the priest was ready to quit, but having obviously managed to close the gap separating himself from the youth he called, "You better drop it, kid, because I'm gonna catch you." He dropped them, but continued to run — the purses were recovered. The tired cleric managed to get back to "the flock." They were just standing and waiting, momentarily speechless. They voiced their exclamations, hugged and kissed the Rector and then we said, "Let us pray for the whole state of Christ's Church," and we prayed and broke bread together on our knees.

Actually, the report of the Church of the Advocate could end with the true story just recounted.

We are a congregation of faithful souls, who are pretty much as other Christians are and do just about what other Christians do.

We worship together, engage in a fellowship with a consciousness that the Holy Spirit is with us, and some are moved to fight against sin, the world and the devil.

We step down from the pulpit and are not so lost in our relation to the Eternal that we cannot see people being robbed and leave off from praying to deal with the robbers — even if it means dropping a stole in the slushy, mud-packed snow while running through the street to deal with sin and try to catch the sinner.

Finally, we must still come back, offer our gifts, and though our minds are filled with the distraction of the moments before, "we offer ourselves, our souls and bodies," asking not that our merits be weighed, but for the pardoning of our offenses as we partake of His most blessed body and blood.

A Pilot Parish

The Church of the Advocate was selected some twelve years ago as a pilot project of this Diocese to support a work to one of Philadelphia's most deprived communities.

Two nights ago (January 12th) I sat with a small group of Chestnut Hill residents in one of their homes discussing the question of how that community could be of help in enabling the people of the inner city to deal with some of its problems. One woman during that meeting said "When it comes to the marks of affluence, you name it and Chestnut Hill has it, politicians, presidents and vice-presidents, professors — you name it and we have it."

I could speak about the other side of the same coin. When it comes to the marks of poverty, you name it and the inner city has it. It is a walled city, so crowded that there is scarcely room to breathe or move about, ignorance, unemployment, despair, at times daring to hope because they hear that there is a war on poverty, or that there are big plans to provide decent homes, or that there are jobs and job-training opportunities.

There might be some germs of truth in all of these promises, but does it really matter if these things never change the agonizing realities of poverty and the problems of the souls who are victims thereof? Then of course there are always the police, more of these in a ten square block area than in ten square miles of another community, and the fires (this morning seven in one household burned to death, and just before Christmas here at the Advocate we provided the service for four little children, burned to death in a ghetto dwelling). There are also hunger and evictions.

Show Me How God Loves Me

I told this story four years ago in an annual report to the convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, of a young woman homeless, hungry and cold who said "here I am, I need help."

I had a few dollars to give her, but being faithful to my calling I sat and talked with her at length and told her not to despair, to always remember that God loved her. She was indeed quite despondent-desperate, crying, and I shall never forget her response and reaction.

Angrily she shot back, "Alright, you show me, tell me how God loves me. You have a home and a family, food and a job, friends and this big church. If I had what you have I could go around talking about the love of God too, now you show me how God loves me."

LIVING THEOLOGY

For the Church of God to mean anything in a community such as North Philadelphia, it must see the doctrine of Redemption in terms of redeeming souls from the physical, economic and social conditions where human bodies and families and minds, are so dehumanized, so depersonalized that the spirit itself has "no room" in which to be born.

The young lady of whom I wrote in the paragraph above is still with us and there are times when she says "I must admit, God has been good to me," but the "outward and visible" thing had to be ministered before she could even realize that there was an "inward and spiritual."

To even try to discuss a ministry which does not take into account total redemption is to deny the Incarnation, The Word made flesh.

I AM COME THAT YOU MIGHT HAVE LIFE AND THAT YOU MIGHT HAVE IT MORE ABUNDANTLY. There was a time when the sheer hopelessness of life in the "here and now" caused men in certain conditions of life to deny and even reject the validity of struggling for the abundant life in the present and look forward only to the life to come. Songs of repressed people document this stage in the history of their lives, such as "O they tell me of a home where no storm clouds rise, O they tell me of a home far away" or "Swing low sweet chariot, coming for to carry me home," I got a robe — I got a crown, — I got shoes, when I get to heaven I'm go'nna put on my shoes and shout all over God's heaven."

Today the Church is not just ignored, but is by many looked upon as an enemy and a tool in the hands of the oppressors to keep the oppressed quiet. "I don't know what's coming after I am dead, nobody ever came back and told me what it is like. I want my heaven now."

Was not Christ concerned about hunger, wages, health, did He not have something to say about exploitation, injustice, brotherhood and doing unto others as you would have them to do unto you? We were not told that we shall inherit the Kingdom of God in our Offices of Instructions, but that we ARE inheritors of the kingdom, "The Kingdom of heaven is at hand."

We are not committing the reverse heresy of saying that the "temporal" is all and there is no eternal, but I recognize that the Church has and to a large extent still does commit the heresy of closing its eyes to the present realities of the moment so as to avoid facing Jesus the Christ who lived, suffered and died to rise as victor over sin the world and the devil.

Facing Life As It Comes

During the past year, the Church of the Advocate has presented an image of a priest dashing madly through the street fully attired in ecclesiastical garments chasing the youth who robbed two women as they were devoutly kneeling.

It just isn't enough to pray or preach or discuss our religion. We cannot afford to allow women to lose their handbags because it is unusual, undignified, shocking or because a beautiful white stole falls into the slushy mud of the city's streets.

Early last year, a young man, whom I had gotten to know very well, sat in my office. He said, "You know, the real trouble is that black people just aren't united, they don't stick together and as long as this goes on it means that "the men" will keep on using, exploiting, feeding us stink meat while he eats steaks." I answered, "This is true." We talked some more, and decided that we were going to have a rally and begin a "Black People's Unity Movement."

Black Unity is not an end in itself, nor is it immoral means. Every American group has participated together in struggle for justice and dignified recognition. The black man must do the same.

After a century of moral appeals, appeals on the grounds of simple sound economics, anthropological arguments about the equal potential of all human beings — after the much heralded 1954 Supureme Court Decision, after the march on Washington and the 1964 Supreme court decision — and then reading the most recent census figures, instead of the earnings of "white and non-whites" moving towards equality the gap was widening; instead of less unemployment among "non-whites" it was actually increasing; instead of less black children being in segregated schools, today it is more than when the desegregation bill was passed in 1954, after churches were bombed, civil rights workers killed, their assailants free, a voice was heard out of Mississippi which echoed around the world "WE NEED BLACK POWER." The word "black" in itself has enough frightening connotations to bring cold shivers to the flesh of any man. To speak of "black power" is to evoke an even more frightening reaction if this is possible. To be sure, almost every medium through which we are informed immediately showed how evil the man was who cried thus, he was hurting. Many said he said a lot of things which he did not say and some of the things he said were misunderstood (understandably so), and he said some other things which were worth hearing here in Philadelphia from his lips and not through radio, TV or our journals. There are still many Philadelphians who thank the Advocate for making it possible to hear for themselves what Stokely Carmichael had to say, but many condemned us because we gave a man the opportunity to be heard.

For almost a year now, the group known as the CONSUMERS EDUCATION AND PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION has conducted its meetings here at the Advocate. This group has been pursuing companies and businesses and banks who have been robbing people. Thus far they have recovered thousands of dollars for innocent people who have been swindled, the "Swindlers" using existing laws as vehicles for their operations.

Last winter a small group of persons met with a gentleman who has "a friend" who is willing to help groups who are interested in providing HOUSING FOR LOW INCOME FAMILIES. During the summer, the Advocate's Rector arranged an appointment for a group of clergymen to explain a project on which they had already begun working to this "man with the friend." The visit netted fifteen thousand dollars to be used to buy condemned houses and rehabilitate them for sale. This money may be used over and over as a kind of revolving fund and eventually be returned.

Still in connection with housing, the Advocate supported and provided meeting space for B.E.A.M. (Buyers Equal Access Movement), a creature of F.R.E.E. (For Real Estate Equality). This group worked in the area of opening houses for access for all people regardless of race or other differences.

Through the Church of the Advocate and its friends, hundreds of hungry families are fed (167 families, or over 800 souls, were fed, clothed and some provided with toys) at Christmas, but "the poor" we have with us daily, and we have never had to turn away a hungry family.

Through a sizeable contribution which we have been receiving from St. Martin's in the Field, this year, the Advocate has been able to have the services of a COMMUNITY ORGANIZER. Miss Miller's work was instrumental in bringing people together to deal with some of the problems which arose with the advent of the FOOD STAMP PROGRAM where residents went in a body to the State Building, at Broad and Spring Garden Streets (where someone wanted to bar them from access to the building) to give direct testimony of the inadequacy of the plan to meet the needs. This service also made it possible for groups of persons on Public Assistance to make a number of trips to Harrisburg to speak with Legislators about the need for more realistic grants for AID TO DEPENDENT CHILDREN. A group has come together to discuss with Temple University, all about Temple's plans for moving farther into the residential area, crowding more of the already overcrowded families into tighter quarters.

We still have a COMMUNITY CENTER, a GET-SET PROGRAM and other activities which are constant reminders that there just isn't enough room to accommodate the many groups which are constantly coming together in search of a means of having life and having it more abundantly.

Some Observations from a Pilot Parish

As a priest of the Church, called to minister in a situation such as has been described (though inadequately) in the foregoing, there are always questions as to what such an undertaking can say to the Church at large. It would be a real disservice for me to say that the observations following represent all of the insights which have been gained, but they are certainly the ones felt most keenly at this sitting. (Not a thing here is new).

As Rector of the Church of the Advocate for the past 4½ years, I know that:

1. The Church must be involved in and struggle to overcome the problems (sins) of its community or else accept the role of a kind of association, ecclesiastically oriented for the sake of gratifying the religious instincts of its members.

2. "If thou let this man go thou art not Caesar's friend." Our vain world is not such a "friend to grace" so that the Church and secular society can co-exist without conflict. Confrontation is inevitable, and to seek a peace which avoids this conflict is to deny Holy Week and acknowledge only Easter. Until "Caesar" and Christ are fully exposed, the interest of man in one or the other is determined by selfish motives rather than convictions or charity. Our witness must be a bold one.

3. That in such boldness we begin to discover many who are committed to Christ, but who cannot formally identify themselves with the Institutional Church because of its (the church's) concern for itself as an institution rather than its concern about its mission.

4. That the Church, when it enters openly into conflict with society as it is organized, will be attacked both from within as well as from without. Plantation owners were always at ease when the slaves were on their knees singing and praying. Many slaves also were at ease because their masters told them that they had nothing to fear so long as they "trusted in the Lord." When the Church judges and attacks the structures of organized society it will be accused of not being the Church.

5. The Church must "eschew evil and cleave to that which is good," and it cannot deny or reject "good" simply because society has branded the soul from whence this good is being expressed as an enemy. Christ did say "I tell you if these should hold their peace the stones would immediately cry out." The disciples have for too long held their peace so that the stones have been called upon to do their job.

6. The Church which breaks with the image which society has made of it will lose those members who accepted it for the sake of this image, but it will also gain souls for Christ. The dilemma arises "where is the Church."

7. A "Chestnut Hill" or a "Bryn Mawr" is as much in need of a "North-central Philadelphia" or a "South Philadelphia" as the latter is of it. Both share in sin corporately, each making the other possible. Together they must "work out their own salvation" else we perish.

A Ministry of Reconciliation

The Church of the Advocate is a living community ministering to "all sorts and conditions of men." The Advocate has made genuine friends of Negroes, Caucasians, the "Haves" and the "Have-nots," Jews, Moslems, Agnostics as well as some who still argue that they are atheists. It has entered into a mutually redemptive relationship with communities far beyond the North Central area of the city where we are located, and when we have our Day Camp reunion immediately after Christmas, Counselors have returned from as far away as Puerto Rico — just to get back to the Advocate.

As a result of the healthy, realistic involvement of the Advocate with the people of our community, its Rector has been called upon throughout the Philadelphia community as well as to bodies of the Executive Council of our church to share insights as to how the Episcopal Church itself might proceed into the future.

The Church of the Advocate joins hands with other Christian bodies for it recognizes that the times call not just for "Black Unity," but for Christian Unity — not just Christian Unity but for the universal acceptance of the Fatherhood of God and the "Brotherhood of all men." All sorts and conditions of men" have discovered each other — in fact, themselves, through Christ's ministry through the Church of the Advocate. We have discovered that here "God is reconciling the world unto himself."

THANK GOD FOR THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN THE DIOCESE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence

James Baldwin wrote in one of his books, "If I am not what you think I am, then neither are you what you think you are." I shall take the liberty of approaching this situational concept from another direction and say — I am what I am because you are what you are. All things exist in relationships with and to each other. In fact we are all so interdependent, personally, socially, nationally and internationally that a slight change in the wages of the South African diamond or gold miner would cause immediately a change in the monetary standards and values throughout the world. The poverty of one community makes possible the wealth of the next, and there could be no "First class citizen" if there were not a "Second class," and there is less unemployment among white Americans because employment is denied to black and other "non-white" Americans.

The question is: What is our responsibility in this mutually supportive, interlocking, interdependent relationship? For the Christian the thought of this state of our existence should be "grievous into us," the burden intolerable. It is a sin for one man to have at the expense of another, and is an equal sin for one to be satisfied knowing that he is being exploited. God did not make us to be used, but to love one another as He loves us and to be ready to give our lives for our brethren, not to love at his expense.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE ORGANIZATION AND STRUCTURE OF THE DIOCESE TO DIOCESAN CONVENTION

At the Convention a year ago, I reported that the Committee on Organization and Structure of the Diocese was giving major attention to the need for more effecive co-ordination of the work and ministry of the entire Diocese. Major attention was given to this area of concern during the winter and spring. As our study deepened it became clearer to us that there was a particularly urgent need for coordination on the planning level, and out of this grew our recommendation for the appointment of a Program Development Coordinator which was approved by Diocesan Council last June and is the position to which Archdeacon McCarty has been recently appointed. In delineating in detail the responsibilities of this position we have placed great emphasis on the planning function. This does not mean to imply that all planning in the Diocese will be left to this Program Development Coordinator and the committee that will work directly with him. Rather, it is our hope and expectation that planning and development will be stimulated in all areas of our Diocesan life, in parishes and groupings of parishes, in Diocesan Council and its departments, and in Diocesan organizations, such as Episcopal Community Services. With the involvement of the Program Development Coordinator's office information concerning planning ideas will be known, their relationship to others can be assessed and their relative promise in terms of fulfilling the mission of the Church more carefully determined.

During the year the Committee has also been considering, through a sub-committee under the chairmanship of the Rev. Dr. Tom Edwards, recommendations to further the effectiveness of Diocesan Council in carrying out its important responsibilities in the life of the Diocese. A first report has been presented by the sub-committee and further study will be undertaken in the months ahead.

The whole question of how best to provide Episcopal assistance to the Bishop has been under examination and will continue to be.

The original membership of the Committee has been somewhat depleted through death in one instance and transfer to other parts of the country in others. The Bishop has added several additional lay persons to the Committee recently and he intends to add several more, thus making lay persons a significant majority of the Committee membership. This we believe is desirable.

Finally, the Committee has been involved deeply with a study of our sub-structure in the Diocese, currently known as the Convocational structure. A sub-committee, originally chaired by Mr. Marshall Ream and for some time now by Dean Wainwright, has been at work for several years. Many members of the Diocesan family have had opportunities to discuss the sub-committee's recommendations which have the full approval of the Committee on Organization and Structure. Dean Wainwright will now report to you on these proposals, which involve canonical changes which we hope will be adopted today.

Chairman

APPENDIX 14

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL OF THE PROVINCE

Presented by the Rev. Peter C. Van der Hiel, Jr.

The Rev. Mr. Long presented the report of the Special Committee to Study and Evaluate the Provincial Structure. The bishops of the various dioceses of the Province had been contacted and opinions had been sent to the committee from the following bishops: the Bishop of Bethlehem, the Bishop of Virginia, the Bishop of Washington, the Bishop of Easton, the Executive Secretary of the Diocese of Delaware, the Bishop of Harrisburg, the Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of Harrisburg.

The Committee met in Washington on September 7, 1966, at the College of Preachers, with the following members present: the Rt. Rev. David S. Rose, the Rt. Rev. William F. Creighton, the Rev. Joseph C. Wood, the Rev. Charles H. Long, Jr., Mr. Norman Simpson and the Rev. Peter C. Van der Hiel.

The following report was presented to the Council.

There was a general review of the function of our Province at present. This discussion covered the program, the tasks and its purpose.

In looking at the present set-up of the Synod the function of the Synod was spelled out:

1. To elect a President.
2. To elect a Representative to the Executive Council of the National Church.
3. To set up ad hoc committees.
4. To elect an Executive Council.
5. To present a Budget and Program.

The question was asked whether the Provincial structure was to be a bridge between the National Church and the Dioceses. Bishop Creighton was somewhat hesitant to give any group between the National Church and the Dioceses teeth and power. It was generally felt that if we could do away with our present structure, something else probably would be created which might well be a realignment based on mutual interest and concern.

It was also felt that in general the delegates to the Synod did not sense their responsibility of representing their Dioceses.

All through the discussion, the distinction was made between "The Province," "The Synod" and "The Council." The Province being mainly the geographical area, the Synod being the meeting and the Council, to a certain extent, being the functioning body.

The lay representative on the Committee felt that the value of the Synod was one of fellowship, that it gave some of the members a larger outlook of the function of the Church. He also felt that while it could have made a larger contribution to the work among laymen, it had not succeeded in doing so.

It was generally agreed that at present the main work of the Province was carried out by task forces, and in particular the one charged with College Work.

After the report of a Special Committee of the Diocese of Pennsylvania was introduced, Bishop Rose suggested to make the "Council" the "Provincial Synod" by limiting the members of the Synod. This would give the Synod more purpose and responsibility. It was further suggested to have one meeting of the Synod a year, in the spring, rather than the fall, and to get responsible delegates from the various Dioceses. The delegates would thereby feel that they were representing their Dioceses and make their contribution accordingly. The Synod would then be authorized to set up an Executive Committee. This committee, of course, should include representation of the Women of the Province.

After more discussion, it was agreed to propose to the Council the following:

1. That the Third Province ask the Committee of the General Convention to study again the realignment of the Provinces, giving thought of creating more Provinces with fewer membership. That if the Church would consider the Provinces to be "Missionary Districts," it would give emphasis to the "mission" of the Church and bring into practice the philosophy of MRI.
2. That, in the meantime, the Synod, possibly renamed the Provincial Council of the Third Province, should replace the present Provincial Council and present Synod.
3. That this Synod or Council meet annually, in the spring, to consider any business of the Province. This would be a meeting of one day to plan program and do necessary business.
4. That the membership of the Council should consist of:
   a. The Bishops of the various Dioceses.
   b. One clerical member from each Diocese.
   c. One or two lay person or persons from each Diocese.
   d. That the Provincial Council elect an Executive Committee to consist of the President, Treasurer, Secretary and other members necessary to promote and supervise any special tasks assigned by the Council. This Executive Committee to meet in the fall of each year or as needed. Auxiliary members may be coopted as needed for special reasons.
5. That the Women of the Province be asked to rethink the purpose, function and tasks of their Provincial Meeting, in line with the above proposals.
6. That the Constitution and By-laws of the Province be rewritten to take care of these changes.
7. To ask the various Dioceses to make the necessary changes in their Diocesan Canons to be in line with the above changes.

There was a discussion as to whether the membership should consist of one Bishop from each Diocese or his representative and upon proper motion, which was seconded, proposal 4a — reading: "The Bishops of the various Dioceses" to be amended to read "One Bishop from each Diocese." Under 4c — reading: "One or two lay person or persons from each Diocese" upon motion of the Rev. Mr. Ludwig and seconded by Bishop Marmion, to this was to be added "the lay delegation from each Diocese to have one vote." This motion was passed with one descending (WRS note: this should probably be dissenting) voice.

It was then moved that this report be adopted by the Council in principle, that this report be referred to Bishop Craine, the Chairman of the Joint Commission on Structure of General Convention and Provinces, for his information and that the amended report be given to each Diocese for their expression of opinion, with the request to report to the Secretary of the Council prior to March 1, 1967. Passed.

PETER C. VAN DER HIEL, JR.
Secretary

APPENDIX 15

REPORT OF THE BISHOP'S COMMITTEE ON CLERGY SALARIES

The Committee on Clergy Salaries met on Monday, November 28, 1966. The committee took note of the fact that there has been an increase in the cost of living in the past year of about 4%, and wishes to call this fact to the attention of the parishes and missions of the diocese. Nonetheless, after careful consideration and recognition of the fact that many of our congregations have had to stretch their resources to the utmost, in order to meet the diocesan minimum salary scale established by the Convention of May 1964, the Committee on Clergy Salaries feels it would be inadvisable to increase the mandatory minimums at this time. We therefore do not intend to propose any changes in the clergy salary scale to the Annual Convention of 1967.

It is our understanding that a separate subcommittee has been appointed to look into the question of providing for the clergy of the diocese basic medical insurance coverage on a group basis, to supplement the present major medical coverage. We understand that this subcommittee is also charged with the task of investigating the possibility of tax-exempt life insurance coverage for the employees of the diocese. Investigation into both of these questions was requested by the Convention of 1966, and we assume that this subcommittee will in due time submit a report.

The Committee on Clergy Salaries wishes once again to call to the attention of the independent parishes of the diocese the fact that the Commission on Rectors' Salaries and Pensions has at its disposal a considerable reserve of funds, which have been set aside by previous Conventions of the Diocese for the specific purpose of assisting parishes in paying the pension premiums of their clergy and of meeting the minimum diocesan clergy salary scale. Parishes that anticipate temporary difficulty in paying the salary or pension premiums of their clergy have the right to apply for financial assistance to the Commission on Rectors' Salaries and Pensions. In making such an application and in accepting financial assistance from that commission a parish preserves its independent status, is not declared an "aided parish," and does not come under the administration of the Department of Missions.

The Committee on Clergy Salaries has not yet had time to study certain questions related to its field of concern which have recently been referred to it, but hopes to be able to present preliminary conclusions for discussion at one of the clergy news conferences later this year.

Respectfully submitted,

THE REV. WILLIAM H. JEFFERYS, JR.
Chairman

APPENDIX 16

PAROCHIAL HISTORY COMMITTEE

This committee was set up over 100 years ago. The Convention of 1865 by resolution organized a committee charged with gathering and preserving books, pamphlets, papers and manuscripts relating to the history of the Church, particularly in this diocese. A room on the fourth floor of the Church House contains files with the various parish histories. The shelves have books on general history of the early days, as well as scrap books, pictures, clergy annuals dating back to the early 1800's. A card index is kept of parishes and clergy who have served in the diocese since its founding. These are available for those seeking information about their parishes, and those interested in historic research.

In recent years there has been a renewal of interest in the study of history, especially of the early days of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania. More interest will be created as we approach the celebration of the Bicentennial of the founding of our nation here in Philadelphia.

During the past year we have received a number of historic booklets, published by parishes which have been celebrating anniversaries. It is important that parishes send to us any interesting publications of a historic nature, that they may be preserved for posterity. It is part of the job of this committee to encourage the appointment of a historian in every parish, who will gather material and pictures of events of importance in the parish. We would like to make up a list of Parish Historians, and will write you shortly about this.

One thing we lack, and that is space for the safe keeping and display of our many historical documents. It is our hope that with the enlargement of facilities in the Church House we may have suitable quarters to contain this vast accumulation of the history of the past. This committee has never been provided with a budget. Cataloging, indexing and filing facilities are becoming very necessary and require some allotment from Convention to do this.

We are one of the oldest Dioceses of the Protestant Episcopal Church, as well as the center of the Church's beginning and the nation's founding. We have much to be proud of, and should treasure and protect the precious documents of the past.

Historiographer

APPENDIX 17

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR

The canonical duties of the Registrar have been duly performed throughout the year. Requests for certificates of Holy Baptism, Marriages, and Burials from the registers of closed parishes have been complied with, insofar as the records were available. Because of Social Security and Medicare an unusually large number of requests for Baptisms and Confirmations has been handled during the year.

The Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania has microfilmed a number of the old parish registers, and will complete all of them in this coming year. The names will be indexed, and this will make research much easier for those who are tracing family histories.

At present we have the records of over thirty closed parishes, many of which date back to very early days. In the case of the dissolution of a parish or mission, the books and papers are required by canon to be turned over to the Registrar as soon as possible thereafter, for permanent storage in the Church House Vault.

Again we call attention to the crowded condition of the vault where these valuable records are kept. The early records of Bishop White, the first Diocesan, the Standing Committee records and other valuable and historic papers are in this vault. We stress the urgent need for larger and safe facilities for these historic records.

DIOCESAN REGISTER

Communicants last reported	6,491

Note: Canon XIV, Section III, Paragraph 2, requires that the Minister in charge of a parish shall transfer to the Diocesan Register, at least once a year, and before the annual meeting of the Diocesan Convention, the names of communicants whose whereabouts or continued existence are unknown. And he shall note the fact of this transfer on his communicant list.

Once transferred, all requests made to the parish for a Letter of Transfer should be forwarded to the Custodian, and not transferred by the parish thereafter.

APPENDIX 18

THE CHURCH FOUNDATION

Preliminary Report for 1966 To The Diocesan Convention

To the Delegates:

You will understand, of course, that we had to go to press with this Preliminary Report in November. Therefore it represents simply the year's highlights up to that point.

Our regular Annual Report for 1966 will be made available to you in about two months.

THE CHURCH FOUNDATION

FUNDS

During the first three quarters of 1966 we received New Funds (including additions to existing funds) in the amount of $181,610.67.

Over a period of generally declining prices — in both stocks and bonds — the Unit Value of our Consolidated Fund declined to $19.74, a decline of some 13% from its all-time high. At the same time the Dow-Jones Industrial Average was down about 21%.

Income, however, continued to rise. The latest available figure for Annual Income in our Consolidated Fund is 91.92 cents per unit, showing a current return of 4.66%.

REAL ESTATE

In 1966 we purchased the property 204 W. Rittenhouse Square, adjoining the Church House on the south. The consideration was $150,000, and the mortgage $100,000. Since then, funds were found to satisfy the mortgage, and the property is clear, and rented.

We purchased 11½ acres of ground in Upper Chichester Township, Delaware County, as the site for the new church building of St. Martin, Marcus Hook. Later, we transferred to the parish corporation all of St. Martin's real estate, for the placing of a construction mortgage of $175,000, after which the real estate was returned to the Church Foundation.

We bought an acre of ground with a small church building in Worcester Township, Montgomery County, for a consideration of $6,000.

We sold 3 acres of ground in Tredyffrin Township, Chester County, for $20,000. We sold a dwelling in Fairless Hills — a former rectory — for $9,500. We sold the former episcopal residence, 7737 St. Martin's Lane, for $46,500. We sold the former rectory of Trinity, Gulph Mills for $23,500.

We took title at settlement to the new clergy residence for Redeemer, Springfield, purchased by the parish for $17,625. We executed a double transfer of real estate in connection with a mortgage of $30,000 for Incarnation, Morrisville.

We made settlement with the Commonwealth for highway damages in the amount of $1,800. for St. Alban's, Newtown Square.

At this writing we have executed Agreements to sell a dwelling in Levittown, and another in West Philadelphia, both being former rectories.

INSURANCE

Many churches increased their insurance against fire, and other property risks, in 1966. Many additional churches adopted the Comprehensive form of insurance. Under this relatively new form most of the coverages that a church needs are included in a single policy. The coverage is broader, and in most cases it results in a saving in over-all insurance premiums.

Let us mention again the extreme importance of carrying liability insurance. No church is exempt from claims for injury on its premises. Carry liability insurance with limits that are high enough to cover the high verdicts that the courts are handing down today.

The Church Insurance Company writes insurance only on properties belonging to or related to the Episcopal Church. They are able to offer a considerable saving against regular rates and an extra saving on five-year policies paid in annual installments.

Numerous claims and settlements passed through our hands in 1966, including one at Christ Church, Franklinville, for $12,340 and another at St. John Free Church in the amount of $20,911.

FINALLY

We welcome requests for our full Annual Report, which will appear in about two months after Convention.

We also welcome inquiries for further information on any of the following subjects:

- Investing a church fund.
- Making a church-related bequest.
- Church Comprehensive form of insurance.
- The Church Insurance Company.
- Any other matter within our field.

APPENDIX 19

REPORT OF THE CATHEDRAL CHAPTER

The Cathedral Chapter developed a plan in cooperation with St. Mary's Mission under which the property is available for use when not required for diocesan purposes. A working financial arrangement is also part of this program.

The Chapter elected the following Canons to serve for the terms indicated:

Term expiring in 1968
The Rev. Robert C. S. Deacon

Term expiring in 1970
The Rev. Charles H. Long, D.D.
The Rev. Elbert K. St. Claire
Robert A. Hauslohner, Esq.
D. Rice Longaker

Term Expiring in 1971
The Rev. Gustave J. Weltsek, Jr.

During the year the Chapter suffered a serious loss through the death of Canon Harry C. Parker, who was devoted to the work of the Chapter and gave very generously of his time as an active and concerned member of the Property Committee. The Chapter also will miss Canon Vail, who showed great interest in the work of the Chapter and served at the meetings of the Chapter when the Bishop could not be present. We wish him well in his new work.

The Chapter concluded the sale of the house at 816 Manatawna Avenue, which had been formerly used as a residence for the sexton.

A new committee, designated the Program and Use Committee, has been appointed, and it is expected, under the Chairmanship of The Rev. Elbert K. St. Claire, to provide recommendations for the increased utilization of the Cathedral property.

APPENDIX 20

TRUSTEES OF THE CHRISTMAS FUND
ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1966

The Trustees, by Canon, are directed to make appropriations, first to Clergy who have been entitled to seats and votes in the Diocesan Convention and who are disabled through age, infirmity or other cause from performing their duties, second, to widows, orphans, or other dependents of such Clergy, and, third, to Deaconesses retired on account of age or infirmity.

Because of payments provided through the Church Pension Fund and Social Security, the original purpose of the trust, which in many cases provided the principal income to its beneficiaries, has been altered so that it now supplements payments from the above sources, enabling the individuals to have "spending money" over allowances that often are only enough for the bare necessities.

Each year the Trustees review the financial status of the grantees. In 1966, grants were at the annual rate of $16,100, awarded to seventeen beneficiaries, of whom three were added during the year.

At the meeting held January 12, 1967, all grants were reviewed and some upward adjustments were made to compensate for changed conditions and higher living costs. One additional grant was authorized. Payments are now at an annual rate of $18,800.

Funds are still available for those who qualify under Canon VII, Sec. VII. Application forms can be obtained through the Secretary or from Mr. Robertson, Controller of the Diocese.

The financial report of the Trustees is incorporated with that of the Treasurer of the Diocese.

Finally, the Trustees record with sorrow the death on January 4, 1967, of their colleague, F. Eugene Newbold, who served faithfully for many years and whose wise counsel on investments was invaluable.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK R. DRAYTON
Secretary

APPENDIX 21.0

REPORT OF THE CONVOCATION OF CHESTER

1966

During the year four Convocation meetings were held, two for the women and two for the men. The spring meeting for the men was held Tuesday, April 19, in Holy Trinity Church, West Chester, the highlight of the meeting being an address by the Rt. Rev. A. Ervine Swift, D.D. on the work of the church in Puerto Rico and the Philippines. The spring meeting of the women was held April 21 in the Church of the Good Samaritan, Paoli. The Very Rev. Robert M. Wainwright, Dean of the Convocation of Norristown, spoke on the proposed convocational structural changes.

The fall meeting for the men was held October 18 in Trinity Church, Swarthmore, the speaker being the Rev. James G. Ludlig, III, and the subject was the proposed convocational structural changes. The fall meeting for the women was held in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont, with Captain Charles H. Dayhuff, III, speaking on some of the work being done in Viet Nam by committed Christian military personnel.

During the year the Convocation was profoundly shocked with the deaths of two of its parish clergy, the Rev. H. Ward Jackson and the Rev. John C. Knewstub.

There have been two changes in mission personnel during the twelve months. The Rev. Henry Francis Hines was appointed Vicar of St. Andrews, Belmont Hills, and the Rev. E. Marshall Bevins resigned as Vicar of St. Mark's, Honey Brook and St. Mary's, Warwick, to accept assignment to work in Philadelphia. Ascension, Parkesburg and St. John's, Compass, are at the moment without a Vicar, the Rev. B. Shepherd Crim having been elected Rector of Trinity Church, Coatesville. However, a new Vicar will be in residence as of January 1.

The congregations of the Church of the Ascension and Holy Trinity, West Chester, merged during the summer, the Rev. W. Henderson Hill becoming assistant to the Rev. Kenneth H. Anthony. The Ascension property was subsequently put on the real estate market.

A serious and successful effort is constantly made to keep the mission properties in first-class condition. A fine property committee and outstanding cooperation on the part of the women make this possible. Particularly fortunate are we to have Mrs. Wallwork as President of the Women of the Convocation. The Dean is more grateful than he can say for the support he receives from all sides.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS P. DAVIS
Dean

REPORT OF THE CONVOCATION OF NORRISTOWN

The Convocation of Norristown met twice officially during the year 1966. We met in the spring at Christ Church, Pottstown, with our program emphasis on the Revision of Convocations. We met in the fall at The Church of the Messiah in Gwynedd as part of its Centennial observance. Our program at that time was "Pre-Convention Preparation." Mr. Walter Robertson of the Treasurer's office reported on the budget to be presented at Convention in January. The Rev. Theodore Jones, Executive Secretary of the Diocese, reported on Diocesan Programs to be discussed at Convention. The Dean reported on the proposed revision of the Canon.

All three of our Convocational missions reported good years. St. Dunstan's Church in Blue Bell dedicated its new church building and Christian Education facilities at a service conducted by Bishop DeWitt on Sunday afternoon, December 11. The church building is completed, and under the fine direction of the Rev. Eastwood Atwater, St. Dunstan's continues to grow.

The Convocation was sorry to lose the services of the Rev. Peter Greenfield, who had served as Vicar of The Church of the Good Shepherd in Hilltown for four years. We are happy to have the Rev. Peter Camp as the new Vicar there. The buildings are in good shape and the congregation continues to grow.

We also had a change in leadership at The Church of the Epiphany in Royersford. The Rev. Richard Fenn is now serving the Diocese at St. Philip's Church in New Hope. In September the Rev. Raymond Cole assumed the position of Vicar at Epiphany. The congregation continues to move towards parish status.

We are still planning on establishing a new mission in Maple Glen, for which the Women of the Convocation have raised a generous sum of money. Thus far a site has not been found which would be adequate. Trying to plan ahead for the future, the Diocese has purchased a site in Worcester township. The site includes a tiny church abandoned by another denomination several years ago. There are no immediate plans to establish a work at this site but we must look ahead to the future.

ROBERT M. WAINWRIGHT

REPORT OF THE WOMEN OF THE CONVOCATION OF NORRISTOWN

1966

The Women of the Convocation of Norristown held four meetings during 1966; two in the daytime — (Holy Communion at 10:30 a.m., luncheon, business meeting, and program), and two in the evening — (Evening Prayer at 8 p.m., business meeting, program and refreshments).

The spring daytime meeting was held on May 5 at All Saints' Church, Norristown, with an attendance of 108. The program was arranged by the Diocesan Department of Ecumenical Relations and consisted of a film and an explanatory talk about the work of the United Churchwomen of Greater Philadelphia given by Mrs. William J. Heydrick.

The evening group met on May 17 at the Washington Memorial Chapel, Valley Forge. Thirty women were present. After a service of Evening Prayer, we were given a tour of the Chapel by Mrs. Harold Mowday, one of the official guides. We were permitted to climb to the top of the bell tower to observe the carillon in action. The program on Christian Mission and Ministry among the American Indians was presented by Mrs. Murray of the Washington Memorial Chapel.

The fall daytime meeting was held at the Church of the Messiah, Gwynedd, on October 6, as a part of their centennial observance during 1966. The attendance was 104, representing 23 parishes. Dean Robert M. Wainwright spoke on the history of the Church of the Messiah from its beginning in 1866 and the many tribulations encountered before becoming the thriving parish it is today.

The Women of St. Philip-in-the-Field, Oreland, were hostesses for the fall evening meeting on October 18. Twenty-nine women attended. The Rev. Ralph C. Roth told about the very successful summer youth program in Oreland which was sponsored by St. Philip's Church.

Twenty-seven of the thirty parishes in the Convocation contributed to the Women's Convocation fund in 1966. The sum of $1200 was donated for the new mission to be established in Maple Glen.

THE CONVOCATION OF NORTH PHILADELPHIA

The spring meeting of the Convocation was held at Saint Barnabas' Church, Kensington. The election of officers which was to be held at that time was postponed to the fall. This change was made because of the Diocesan Convention.

The fall meeting was held at the Free Church of Saint John. The following people were elected:

Dean — The Rev. H. Roberts Lorenz

Secretary — The Rev. Ronald Joseph

Treasurer — Mr. John Kirk

Executive Committee — The Rev. Edward Hendricks
The Rev. Edward Loeffler
The Rev. James Mole
Mr. Philip Holland
Mr. Edward Smyrl
Mr. Richard Tudor

Diocesan Council — The Rev. Ernest Harding
Dr. Walter Greenwood

There have been several changes in the clergy in the Convocation. The Rev. Bayard Collier Carmiencke is now in charge of Christ, Franklinville and St. Ambrose. St. Barnabas and St. Mary of the Annunciation ended the year without Vicars, but men have been appointed to both Missions.

Perhaps the most exciting thing to begin this year was the inception of a team ministry to be headed by the Rev. James Mole, St. Nathanael's and to include these five churches: St. Nathanael's; Christ, Franklinville; St. Ambrose, St. Barnabas, and St. Mary of the Annunciation. We hope that this will be a vital step in knocking down the walls that divide Parish from Parish, and Mission from Mission. If the plan goes well each priest will be able to use his own special talents to the fullest and to the advantage of each of the Churches involved.

Respectfully submitted,
THE VERY REV. H. ROBERTS LORENZ

The financial figures are incomplete.

Father Carmiencke did not know the amounts received from the Diocese for Christ Church, Franklinville, and St. Ambrose.

I assume that the figures for All Souls' should include the Vicar's salary coming from the Diocese.

I would also assume the same for St. Barnabas and St. George and Holy Redeemer.

Mr. Mole did not have the figures for Offerings and Pledges for St. Nathanaels'.

DEAN'S REPORT, SOUTH PHILADELPHIA CONVOCATION

During the past three or four years one of our churches has been fighting for its very existence due to circumstances beyond their control. Plans were, and still are, for the Delaware Expressway to so divide the immediate area of Gloria Dei (Old Swedes) Church as to make its future questionable. Under the dynamic leadership of the Rector, The Rev. John Craig Roak, D.D., many city, state and national men and women were approached trying to have the roadway changed. During the year 1966 the Diocese of Pennsylvania entered into active negotiations at all levels, by personal visits, telephone calls and letter hoping to bring about some changes. At the time of the writing of this report nothing has changed, due in part to change in political leadership at all levels. However, there are still hopes for the future, and the rector, Dr. Roak, wishes to thank through this medium everyone who has taken interest in this historic church.

One item which the Dean has not given sufficient notice of is the Convocation's sponsorship of scholarships for young people to the Summer Youth Conferences. Each spring both the women and the men have set aside amounts for this project. We are happy to say many young people from this Convocation have benefited during the years.

There is one Diocesan Mission and one Aided Parish in the Convocation. Both are showing progress over previous years. The Rev. Edward McCoy, Priest-in-charge of Saint Elisabeth's Mission, carries on a parish ministry as well as an out-reaching missionary work. He ministers to five hospitals in South Philadelphia. Of special interest is as follows, "This past year saw the beginning of a clinical training program at the Naval Hospital for four seminarians from the Philadelphia Divinity School. This is the first time any Military Hospital has gone along with this idea." The Rev. Robert C. Hofmeister, Priest-in-charge of The Church of The Crucifixion, has brought to a high level the ministry and work of this parish. The Communicant strength has nicely increased, cost of installation, $1,900.00, of new church radiation and other repairs, as well as repaying the Diocese in 1966 the amount of $4,400.00 for the installation of a new furnace. For 1967 the church has increased their share of the Priest's salary from $1,200 furnace has been accomplished. For 1967 the church has increased their share of the priest's salary from $1,200 to $3,200, and Missionary Offering from $100 to $500 per year.

The Episcopal Women of the Convocation, under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth O. Grannum, continue their excellent program in and for the Church and related activities.

During the spring meeting, April 26, 1966, officers and representatives were elected.

The Rev. James C. Blackburn re-elected Secretary.

Mr. Neale Bringhurst withdrew his name as treasurer and Mr. D. Cortland Montgomery was elected.

Mr. Edward J. Parnum re-elected Lay Representative to Diocesan Council.

The Rev. John Craig Roak, D.D. elected as Clerical Representative to Diocesan Council.

The Rev. John R. Logan, Jr. and Mr. John F. Preole elected to Executive Committee of Convocation.

Two Convocation-wide church services were held in 1966, one on Ash Wednesday evening, the other on the eve of Thanksgiving Day. Both services were inspiring but attendances could have been far better. The same are planned for 1967.

This will be the last report of the present Dean who has served two terms and has asked that his name not be placed in nomination this year. This has been a wonderful eight years and many thanks to all for their help and guidance.

REPORT OF THE DEAN OF THE WEST PHILADELPHIA CONVOCATION

December 19, 1966

The West Philadelphia Convocation held its canonical spring and fall convocational meetings. There were two meetings of the Executive Committee during the year. We report that there is only one Diocesan-Aided Parish in the Convocation, St. Andrew's-St. Monica, and it is receiving no diocesan aid as it hopes to become a self supporting Parish with the fulfillment of the two year requirement. There are no missions.

The Convocation is requesting the Diocesan Strategy Committee to "keep an eye on" the Wynnefield section and the Eastwick Development Project.

The Clergy and laymen have called for more communication between member churches, and the Dean will proceed in this matter after the conversations about convocations at the next Diocesan Convention.

On Sunday, October 16, 1966, acting under the direction of Bishop DeWitt, the Dean instituted the Rev. Robert Deacon as Rector of the Church of St. James, Kingsessing.

CONVOCATION OF GERMANTOWN

This year an opportunity was given the Dean to visit a number of the missions and aided parishes on Sundays for church services. A full report was presented to the May meeting of Convocation. Some of the recommendations for property improvements have been carried out by the missions.

House of Prayer has made some repairs and improvements to the rectory on the arrival of the new Vicar, the Rev. Robert E. DuBose, Jr. The stone steps on the south side of the church were replaced. Improvements and repairs have also been made at All Saints', Fallsington. The Women of the Church have aided in painting the parish house. New carpeting is needed for the church and minor repairs are needed on the rectory.

The problem of relocating of the Church of Redeemer, Andalusia, is being reviewed by the Diocesan Committee on Strategy. With the curtailing of financial assistance to Holy Nativity, it seems imperative that the congregation will have to make some decision before 1968 as to its future.

We have had two local meetings of the Clergy, and one general meeting to discuss matters of concern with the Clergy.

We express our appreciation to the members of the Executive Committee and to the Women of the Convocation for their assistance.

METROPOLITAN ASSOCIATES OF PHILADELPHIA

Metropolitan Associates of Philadelphia — MAP — is a group of over 100 committed persons in the greater Philadelphia area seeking to develop a new kind of ministry for the new kind of metropolis that is emerging. This new "style" of ministry will supplement and strengthen the present continuing good work of meeting house, synagogue and church, but it shall be new in form. The arena for developing MAP is in secular rather than religious institutions of metropolis. Worker-ministers and lay-associates employed by secular institutions, assisted by fulltime MAP minister-agents, seek not only to see and understand how change takes place, but to develop ways and means of assisting in making such changes. MAP's life and work use secular divisions and secular techniques for the development of mission. The common life of study, reflection, consultation and action takes place in six basic sectors of the public life: Arts-Education; Social Organization; Health; Government-Politics; Business-Industry, and Physical Development (of the city). The Metropolitan Associates are in constant communication within and between these sectors. To keep the program from flying off into space, the life of MAP is regulated and disciplined by an action-research design (and a full-time research director is employed in 1966-1967). To keep sights on the "real" city, all of MAP's activity is measured in terms of an over-riding public issue or problem (at any given time). MAP's full-time staff, working out of an office in a central city office building, includes six clergy "agents" from four different denominations (Episcopal, Baptist, Lutheran and United Church). MAP staff employed in and by secular institutions includes persons from every major church or religion. MAP's purpose is to research and develop this new style of mission in the 1960's, in order that the ministry of the 21st Century will be as vital and new as was the ministry of the Church in the first Century. With God's help, MAP should help and enable our church institutions, too, to move forward in proclaiming that God is in His world.

Respectfully submitted,

The Rev. Robert McCloskey
Metropolitan Associates of Philadelphia

APPENDIX 23

EPISCOPAL COMMUNITY SERVICES OF THE DIOCESE OF PENNSYLVANIA

Annual Report — 1966

The general and all inclusive purpose of Episcopal Community Services is set forth clearly in its charter in the following words:

> "To provide for the welfare, health, and spiritual needs of individuals, families and other groups in accordance with approved standards and as an expression of basic Christian faith."

This large area of responsibility or accountability provides a constant challenge to the Board of Council and staff alike.

Efforts to achieve these objectives in 1966 resulted in fulfilment in some areas, frustration in some and promise for the future in others.

Fulfilment

The Volunteer Service Project, begun late in 1965, gathered considerable momentum during 1966. This three year project, financed largely by the U.T.O., is now fully staffed with a co-ordinator, a research consultant and a secretary. An Advisory Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert C. Lea, Jr., is assisting in a variety of ways. Several parishes became involved in addition to the various divisions of Episcopal Community Service.

Project ENABLE, jointly sponsored by Family Counseling Service, a division of Episcopal Community Services, and three other agencies, got under way in March. Financed by the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity, it offered education for family life to families in three of Philadelphia's poverty pockets.

Institutional Chaplaincy Service was able to implement the recommendation of a special study committee calling for a more intensive ministry on the part of the staff chaplains in fewer institutions.

By the year's end, the new 80 bed wing at All Saints' Hospital was nearing completion and it was expected that patients would occupy it early in 1967. Formal dedication ceremonies are planned for May 15, 1967, to which all interested persons are invited. Construction of this facility, originally recommended by the Bishop's Exploratory Committee in 1961, will be a keystone in the construction of a co-ordinated program for the aging, handicapped, and chronically ill in the diocese.

Frustration

The rapid social changes of this period have been reflected in drastic revisions in the way services are being provided to those in need. The "War on Poverty," new mental health legislation, and other new programs are opening up creative approaches to long standing community problems; at the same time the number of groups involved in planning tends to be confusing and to make it difficult for an agency like Episcopal Community Services to determine how best to fulfil its objectives in the midst of change. This challenge it has in common with the diocese and its parishes and missions.

The rapid increase in positions requiring professional training, especially in the new government financed programs, resulted in serious staff shortages in agencies providing older but still vitally needed services. Episcopal Community Services experienced the frustration of staff shortages at a time of heightened opportunity.

Necessary salary increases in programs in which salaries account for a large part of the cost, coupled with the general inflationary trends, led to a marked increase in operating costs without a corresponding increase in volume of service.

Promise

A master plan for the development of services for the aging and chronically ill developed several years ago was under review at year's end by a special committee of the Board of Council. The committee is charged with reviewing it and setting priorties. Out of this may well come a program of experimentation and demonstration that will make a genuine contribution to the diocesan ministry to the aging, handicapped and chronically ill.

During 1966 another committee of the Board of Council has been laying the groundwork for an effort to provide a broader and more adequate base of support for the agency. This should begin to bear fruit in 1967.

Finally, this report would not be complete without reference to the retirement from the Board of Council of Mr. E. Perot Bissell, Jr., who served as president from 1960 to 1966, and the succession to the presidency of Mr. Charles L. Ritchie, Jr. Episcopal Community Services is fortunate in the calibre of men willing to assume its leadership.

The Rev. Arnold Purdie, D.D., ACSW
Executive Director

APPENDIX 24

THE CHURCH PENSION FUND

December 1, 1966

Dear Bishop DeWitt

This is the short report that the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund make each year to the dioceses for their annual conventions.

Attached is a list of individuals of your diocese currently receiving benefits. The benefit totals throughout the Church are as follows:

	Number	Amount
To retired clergy	1,103	$2,548,150
To disabled clergy	131	321,040
To widows	1,622	2,245,573
To orphaned children	315	190,990
Total	3,171	$5,305,753

Included in these figures are increases in June 1966 totaling $438,406 a year.

The increases included a 2.8% increase in all minimum pensions and children's allowances, and a particular emphasis on offsetting the disadvantage the older pensioners have had from the shrinkage in purchasing power since they began to receive their pensions.

It is the hope of the Trustees that next year and in subsequent years every pension in force, and the minimum scale of pensions, may be increased on the order of 2½-3%. This is a means of offsetting the depreciation of purchasing power of the dollar which seems to be a continuing phenomenon.

The normal minimum for the clergy is now $2,160 and for widows $1,440 a year. The orphan's allowance is now $432 to $720 a year, depending on age bracket. Pensions below these figures are due to late ordination, unpaid assessments in inactive periods, very low salaries, very late marriage, deposition intervals, and some early retirement cases.

About 47% of the present benefits from the system are the retirement benefit; 6% the disability benefit; and 47% the widows' and children's benefits. The assessments contribute a little less than one-half of the needed resources in the long run, over a half coming from investment earnings.

The insurance and annuity facilities made available by the Trustees through Church Life Insurance Corporation are widely used by the clergy and active lay workers and officials. The policies are a means, among other uses, whereby individuals may name their parishes as beneficiaries; parishes may build up endowments; parishes may provide pensions for their lay workers; dioceses and parishes may provide group life insurance for their clergy. The group Church Major Medical Plan now covers 15,000 individuals — clergy and lay workers and family members.

Over 5,000 churches and institutions are insured in the Church Insurance Company (fire and casualty). Thus the Church in effect is insuring itself, saving considerable money for the Church in the process. The affiliated Church Agency Corporation handles bonding, boiler, and other insurances required by the Church. Thus the Church has its own specialists working wholly in the field of Episcopal Church insurance, as its "joint commission on pensions and insurance,," so to speak.

These units are wholly-owned subsidiaries of the Fund, operate wholly within the Church, and contribute to clergy pensions.

The Trustees of the Fund appreciate the cooperation of the many clergy and lay people in administering this activity of the church.

Faithfully yours,

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT, EPISCOPAL CHURCHWOMEN

Bishop DeWitt and Members of Diocesan Convention

To make an annual report for the first time at the 183rd Annual Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania is an awesome task — but to make an annual report on eight months work is even more of a trick! Although Nancy Lea made her final report to you last January, we were blessed with her brilliant leadership until May. However, it's been a very full eight months, a time I've thoroughly enjoyed. To be a member of the Church House team, working closely with Bishop DeWitt, the staff and the clergy is truly a great privilege.

The Triennial Theme, given to us in St. Louis — "To recognize how God is working in a changing world, to understand the role and opportunities for women in church and society, and to learn to respond to the demands God is placing on us," is a real challenge! We have attempted to do this in many different ways, but primarily through channelling the general church program (received from Executive Council) to the women in the parishes through information, education and inspiration.

As you know, we women are housed in the Stable behind the Church House. We like to make a lot of being put in the "Stable," but actually we love it. It's really an attractive old place, but it had gotten a bit dull and shabby, so last summer with the help of our very good friends, Messrs. Oberhuber and Robertson, we did a little face lifting — fresh paint, gay curtains, and a new (to us) refrigerator. The Mission Shop, on the first floor, selling beautiful objects from countries around the world, is especially attractive.

Because of our new look, perhaps, or because we now have delegates from almost every parish to all departments, the enthusiasm and active participation of the women is increasing. We have also been combining two or more departments to present especially interesting programs.

For the past few years the trend has been to coordinate the activities of the various ECW departments as well as cooperate in joint efforts with the corresponding diocesan departments. For instance, last fall the Diocesan Department of Christian Social Relations and the ECW department of CSR sponsored a bus trip to the Episcopal Center in New York. It was quite a success — so popular, in fact, that the bus was oversubscribed and for a time there was a question about accommodating everyone. However, they all arrived and returned safely with glowing reports of a great day! And recently our departments of Diocesan Affairs and CSR presented an excellent program on the work of the Episcopal Community Services and are active in recruiting volunteers for their very worthwhile activities. Men's and women's groups also have been working together to present the program of the church.

Under the guidance of our new Program Development Coordinator, The Ven. John D. McCarty, who said recently, " . . . in planning the program of the Diocese, we want everyone to get into the act — everybody will be heard!" we undoubtedly will be working together even more. ECW is encouraging the parishes to function in this manner also — not as men's clubs, youth work, churchwomen, etc., but as the Whole Parish, doing the Lord's work together!

The United Thank Offering, of course, is one of the most appealing areas of our work. The total of each ingathering somehow tops the last! For instance, the total in 1965. was $72,000, and for 1966, was $77,423.85. But the really telling figures are those of the number of participants! In the spring of '65, there were 8,422, in the fall of '66, 9,782! Though the total amount of money is thrilling and most needed, it is the total number of grateful people that is significant. Of course, there can never be a true total of all the love and joy and dedication expressed in these offerings. In this, also, we are encouraging participation of the whole family (including the men!). We women don't want to have a corner on grateful hearts!

Exciting new ecumenical ventures have been most successful, and our Lea Hill Scholarship Grants are enabling two young women to study for graduate degrees: Marie Weil is working on her Ph.D. in Social Work at the University of Pennsylvania and Michiko Aoki, for her Doctorate in Linguistics and American, Japanese Culture at Columbia University. Michi visited us last week and charmed the Diocesan Board with stories of her country and her life at Windham House. Her concern for the problems of students in Japan motivated her to come to the United States for further study, and she plans to return to her country to teach and counsel in the college community.

"Wealth and Want in One World," the Interdenominational Study Theme for the year, not only stresses the facts that one-fifth of the nation is living in poverty and two-thirds of the world's population is starving, but challenges us to concerned action.

It is very appropriate that our Supply work is now called World Relief. For that is just what it is. In the past year either money or materials have been sent to meet needs in Puerto Rico, Arizona, the Dakotas, Japan, Utah and Vietnam. Contributions have also been made to Church World Service, which contributes medicines, blankets, clothing, etc. throughout the world. This is a new and exciting development of our work.

In addition to our involvement in varied domestic missions, including the American Indian, the Migrant and the American Church Institute, we have a thriving overseas mission project in Africa. In 1965 we undertook a one year MRI Partnership Project to provide scholarships for seminarians at St. Paul's College near Nairobi in East Africa. This proved to be so popular that it was expanded to a three year project: four, three year scholarships. To date forty-seven parishes have participated. It demonstrates again that our real mission is person to person, and given the opportunity, the response is overwhelming.

At the request of the Episcopal Churchwomen, the Rev. William E. Blewett visited St. Paul's College last summer while in Africa. In November he gave his report to the women. The meeting began with Dr. Blewett celebrating Holy Communion using a new African Liturgy. He also showed slides and presented taped interviews with two of the students. When one of the young men asked if he could call the women of the Diocese of Pennsylvania "Mothers," and said, " . . . please tell them that we need their prayers and we also pray and believe that God will be generous to them as they are generous to us" — you can imagine the reaction of the Episcopal Churchwomen!

Undergirding all of our work in the Diocese is, of course, our prayer life. The Quiet Mornings, Retreats and Study Programs planned by the Department of Prayer and Worship are not only inspiring, but most helpful in the deepening of our spiritual lives. Earlier this week we met at Holy Trinity Church for the first keynote meeting on our Lenten Study Subject, "The Holy Spirit." Bishop DeWitt was both celebrant for the Holy Communion and speaker at the meeting which followed. As usual, his great simplicity and clarity cut through the complexities and difficulties which we usually face before this holy mystery.

Because the areas of involvement of the many ECW Departments and Affiliated Organizations are so broad and diverse, it has been impossible for me to describe their individual efforts. However, the dedication of the women in these departments and their joy in doing the Lord's work is wonderful to behold! Their reports will appear in the JOURNAL, and I recommend them as fascinating reading.

However, the high point of our year is today! To have been part of Diocesan Convention for the first time (we held our annual meeting and election of officers here this morning) and to have our Bishop install the newly elected officers of the Episcopal Churchwomen in your opening session of convention is simply wonderful! So, even if women aren't seated at General Convention in Seattle in September, the women of the Diocese of Pennsylvania have been beautifully "seated" today!

ANNUAL MEETING — MINUTES

MRS. EDWIN H. ROGERS

The 93rd Annual Meeting of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Diocese of Pennsylvania was held in the Betsy Ross Suite of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, January 20, 1967. The meeting was called to order at 10:30 a.m. by the President, Mrs. Henry L. Hood. Mrs. Richard W. Thorington led the devotions which opened the meeting.

The President, in her greetings, noted that this was the first annual meeting to be held in connection with the Diocesan Convention. The officers elected at this meeting will be installed by Bishop DeWitt during the opening session of the Convention.

The secretary read the minutes of the 92nd Annual Meeting. It was moved, seconded and approved that the minutes be accepted.

The Treasurer, Mrs. J. Ebert Butterworth, gave a report on the finances from January 1, 1966 to December 31, 1966. A copy of this report is made part of these minutes and is filed for audit.

All elected members of the Board gave short, interesting profiles of their respective positions.

Mrs. Hood then introduced Mrs. George E. Mallams, the secretary in the Episcopal Churchwomen's office and Mrs. William B. McIlwaine, who is a regular volunteer in this office.

The President then gave a summary of the report she will give at the Diocesan Convention.

Mrs. Robert C. Lea, Jr., Chairman of the 1966 Nominating Committee, presented the report of this committee. A copy of this report is filed with these minutes. There were no nominations from the floor, so the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot unanimously electing the slate presented. Mrs. Thorington closed the meeting with prayer. Meeting adjourned.

Proposed for election at the Annual Meeting, January 20, 1967. For three-year terms.

APPENDIX 25.3

DEPARTMENT OF PRAYER AND WORSHIP

MRS. RICHARD W. THORINGTON

The most significant development in the program of the Department of Prayer and Worship during the past year may be summed up in the word "involvement." This department has been involved in the programs of other departments. No longer is our image one of a group separate — set apart. Through participation in the programs of the Departments of Missions and Christian Education, growth and mutual enrichment have resulted. Together as praying worshiping women we have joined forces to work for Him in His world of today.

The Department of Prayer and Worship has presented two study programs during the past year. From January through May the study subject was "Intercessory Prayer." The study book was so entitled and written by Edward W. Bauman. Four keynote meetings on this subject were held. Two on the "Power of Prayer" were presented by the Rev. Eugene F. Lefebvre. Two on "How to Pray in Intercession" were presented by the Rev. Alfred W. Price, D.D.

The second study subject and the one which will carry through to May 1967 was the "Holy Spirit." The books used in making this study were the Bible, "The Promise of the Spirit" by William Barclay and a tract, "The Holy Spirit" by Frederick W. Dillistone. Two keynote meetings on this subject were held on January 18. The Rt. Rev. Robert L. DeWitt was both celebrant at the Holy Communion and speaker at the morning meeting at The Church of the Holy Trinity, Philadelphia. Luncheon followed this meeting. The evening meeting began with Holy Communion at 6 p.m., followed by dinner and the meeting in the Packard Memorial Room, Church House. The Rev. Judson S. Leeman, M.D. (Associate Rector of The Church of the Holy Trinity, Philadelphia) was celebrant and speaker.

Two retreats for Episcopal Churchwomen have been held at Denbigh. The conductors were the Rev. Thorne Sparkman and the Rev. Emmett P. Paige. Dr. Sparkman conducted the Lenten Retreat. The idea of having a retreat during Lent was an innovation and met with enthusiasm.

The department, as mentioned in the first paragraph, joined with the Departments of Missions, Overseas Division in two meetings. At the spring meeting, Mr. William F. Honaman, lay missionary to Japan, spoke on "The Church in Japan." Following luncheon, Mrs. A. Ervine Swift gave a delightful talk on "A Bishop's Wife Overseas." Bishop Swift was the celebrant at the Holy Communion.

At the meeting with the Department of Christian Education, Mary Morrison talked about "Bible Study Groups," what is learned from them both directly and indirectly.

For the first time the Prayer and Worship Department joined in Leadership Training Day with an afternoon program especially planned for parish Prayer and Worship chairmen.

A Prayer Conference was held in October under the leadership of the Rev. J. Moulton Thomas of the Anglican Fellowship of Prayer. The Rt. Rev. A. Ervine Swift and many other members of the clergy contributed to the success of this meeting by leading the small group discussion on prayer which took place in the afternoon. The Holy Communion concluded a rewarding day. Bishop Swift was celebrant.

St. Martin's Church on Locust Street was again the setting for the Advent Quiet Morning with the Rev. Frank Griswold as conductor.

Other activities of the department include the Feast of the Annunciation area services of Holy Communion in which 16 churches participated. The many details connected with this type of corporate communion were ably carried out by Mrs. Charles B. Allen of the Committee.

Mrs. Richard K. Allen, also of the Committee, was the Diocesan Representative for the World Day of Prayer.

Mrs. Elbert St. Claire, committee librarian, presented book reviews for Advent, Lenten and summer reading.

The Chairman wishes to express her deep appreciation to both her committee and to the Chaplain of the Department of Prayer and Worship, the Rt. Rev. A. Ervine Swift. Their loving dedication has been a constant source of strength and inspiration in this exciting endeavor to serve our Lord and Saviour.

APPENDIX 25.4

DEPARTMENT OF DIOCESAN AFFAIRS

MRS. BENJAMIN E. EATON

The annual Go-See trip of the Department of Diocesan Affairs was held March 30, 1966 to the Church Farm School. Many more visitors came than were expected and it was a most successful day. They came by bus from the Church House and cars, and were taken all over the grounds by bus. The ladies of the Board of the School served cake and coffee and then everyone went to the shop to buy sausage, scrapple and eggs from the farm.

On January 11, 1967, the department held a joint meeting with the Department of Christian Social Relations. The subject was the Volunteer Service Project at Episcopal Community Services being financed by the United Thank Offering grant. Mrs. Robert C. Lea, Jr., opened the meeting with a very comprehensive overall picture of the project. Mrs. Ruth Dross, who is in charge of the project, continued the meeting and introduced a very effective skit, which showed the effectiveness of the program. The meeting was very well attended and considered most successful.

THE EPISCOPAL FOUNDERS COMMITTEE OF THE COOPERATIVE SHOP

There is a new name for the Episcopal Founders Committee of the Cooperative Shop. From now on, the organization will be known as "The Founders' Aid to the Philadelphia Divinity School." The purpose remains the same — to raise funds for scholarship aid for students at the Philadelphia Divinity School, and to keep a supply of books flowing into the Emily Pepper Hacker Memorial Room of the Library.

The chief source of income for these two purposes is the Cooperative Shop at 1735 Sansom Street. There articles of silver, glass, china, bric-a-brac, jewelry and used clothing are sold, and the proceeds given to the Founders in proportion to the value of the donations given in that organization's name.

On January 24, 1967, at the House of the Colonial Dames, a check for $1,000 will be presented to the Very Rev. Edward G. Harris for the Divinity School.

THE BISHOP'S COMMITTEE FOR THE PHILADELPHIA DIVINITY SCHOOL

The Bishop's Committee of the Philadelphia Divinity School is planning to enlarge the committee this year.

The presidents of each parish will be asked to send a representative, as an associate member of the committee, to two meetings a year at the school.

This will enable a parish to be more fully informed about the Divinity School, and of the many activities of the Bishop's Committee.

Preparations are now under way for the annual Christmas party, given at the school by the committee for the children of the married students. About 50 percent of the students are married, and there will be 37 children at the party. Santa Claus arrives with a gift for each child, and of course ice cream, cake and candy are served. A magician will entertain them, and carol singing will end the afternoon. This is always a happy day for the children and the parents as well.

THE EPISCOPAL COMMUNITY SERVICES COMMITTEE

Under the auspices of the Diocesan Affairs Committee of Episcopal Churchwomen, this committee serves as a women's auxiliary to Episcopal Community Services.

Fifteen ECS slide-lecture programs have been presented to parishes throughout the diocese since January 1966; five Go-See tours to Old Saint Paul's conducted and eight Historic Philadelphia Benefits given, the proceeds of which accrue to the agency.

The committee was instrumental in underwriting the costs of repairs for the old benches outside headquarters and the special cleaning to the exterior of Bishop Stevens House.

A reception for the newly-elected President of the Board of Council, Charles L. Ritchie, Jr., was given with 1,800 invitations issued.

THE WOMEN'S COMMITTEE OF THE DIOCESAN CONFERENCE CENTER

Mrs. Wistar B. MacLaren

Since the committee was appointed in 1964 significant changes have taken place. The Chapel has been virtually refurbished, with the latest addition a handsome new altar rail made by Mr. Charles Goodman, a member of the Management Committee.

The general appearance of the downstairs has been improved through individual gifts of furniture, lamps and vases. Fresh flowers are supplied and arranged during the growing season by women from twelve neighboring parishes.

At present, the efforts of the committee are directed toward improving the second floor. During the past year bedside tables, lamps and bedspreads have been purchased.

Financially the Women's Committee is dependent on a small sum set aside in the budget for grounds, maintenance and repair of the Conference Center. In 1965, Denbigh was included in the Diocesan Churchwomen's list for suggested parish giving. This brought in some additional income which is much needed. It is hoped that those parishes will continue their assistance and that others will also become interested in Denbigh.

Looking ahead, the Women's Committee hopes to become even more helpful to the Conference Center as it plays an increasingly busy role in the life of the Diocese.

APPENDIX 25.5

DEPARTMENT OF MISSIONS

Mrs. John P. Lutz

The Overseas Division of the Department of Missions held three meetings during 1966. The first, in March, was a joint meeting with the United Thank Offering Custodians. The Rev. Clement A. Akimbola spoke on "The Church in Nigeria."

The Rt. Rev. A. Ervine Swift was Celebrant at Holy Communion for the April meeting. Mrs. A. Ervine Swift spoke on "A Bishop's Wife Overseas" and Mr. William F. Honaman described "The Church in Japan."

In November The Rev. William E. Blewett was Celebrant at Holy Communion and spoke on the Episcopal Churchwomen's MRI Partnership Project in Africa.

Mrs. Randall E. Copeland, Home Missions Chairman, reported two meetings: Mrs. Alvin M. Josephy, Jr. spoke on Indian Affairs in March and in October Archdeacon John McCarty described the Pilot Project Program.

The following disbursements were made: $375 each to the American Indians, Domestic Missions and American Church Institute; $100 each to St. Elizabeth's Mission Home and Corporation for Christian Work in Diocese of Pennsylvania; $200 each to the Provincial Project and United Scholarship Service.

APPENDIX 25.6

DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

Mrs. Robert J. Robinson, Jr.

The Christian Education Department participated in the three program planning meetings on April 20, May 4, and May 6.

On September 23, at Denbigh, we presented a "Leadership Training Day." Martha L. Levering spoke briefly on "public speaking," i.e. presenting our material and being heard. Sally Chapman Jones gave us the rudiments of "Parliamentary Procedure" that will help us to conduct our meetings. This morning meeting was followed by luncheon and then the Christian Education chairmen broke up into six study and practice groups.

"The Prayer and Worship" committee joined us in the morning session, opening it with prayer.

The committee presented the Rev. Eric Snyder, from the Executive Council, who substituted for the ill Muriel Webb, at three Keynote Meetings. The subject was "Wealth and Want in One World" based on a symposium edited by Muriel Webb. The morning and evening meetings on November 2 were held in the Church House. The morning meeting was followed by lunch and the evening one preceded by dinner. The third meeting was held on the morning of November 3, in St. Luke's, Newtown.

APPENDIX 25.7

DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL RELATIONS

MRS. WILLIAM R. HUDSON

The Department of Christian Social Relations of the Episcopal Churchwomen opened the work year in September with a joint meeting of the Departments of Christian Social Relations of the Diocese and the Episcopal Churchwomen. We explored joint or common concerns — areas in which we may help each other operate more effectively in the field of social issues.

In October, we had a bus trip for both C.S.R. departments to Church Center in New York. All of the administrative staff of the national C.S.R. gave us a description of their work and the program and organization of the national C.S.R. At lunch we heard a beautiful and thoughtful exposition of the work and activities of the Judson Memorial Church in Greenwich Village.

On January 11 we had a joint meeting with Diocesan Affairs to hear about the new look in volunteering. Nancy Lea explained the U.T.O. grant to our diocese to fund a study and evaluate volunteer services by church people. Mrs. Ruth Dross, Coordinator of Volunteers, and Mrs. Mary Brion, Director of Church Work among the Blind, further developed the understanding of those present of the current needs for volunteers and the qualities of volunteer service.

ELIZABETH PRICE MARTIN LEAGUE #1

Elizabeth Price Martin League Unit #1, Philadelphia General Hospital. We are working very hard trying to help the patients in every way we can.

January 1966 — We have a wonderful group of young people that come in every 4th Sunday to help bring patients down to service, as well as help with the service. Quite a few come from Calvary, Germantown, and St. Thomas,' West Philadelphia.

February 1966 — We bought a TV set for the Psychiatric Department.

March 1966 — With money donated by St. Paul's Episcopal Church Men's Club, we gave two infant seats to the Children's Ward. Also, a wagon was given for transporting child patients to X-ray and other departments in place of using a litter.

Elizabeth Price Martin League received the annual Benjamin Rush Award from the Philadelphia County Medical Society for outstanding contribution to the health of the people of Philadelphia, March 9, 1966.

April 28, 1966 — Elizabeth Price Martin League also received the Benjamin Rush Award from the Pennsylvania Medical Society for outstanding contribution in the state of Pennsylvania. This award was received in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

June 1966 — We assisted Chaplain Dettweiler (Episcopal Chaplain at Philadelphia General Hospital) financially and in whatever way we could in the interest of the patients.

July 1966 — Elizabeth Price Martin League gave from our Burial Fund $100 toward the funeral expenses for one of the Philadelphia General Hospital patients.

October 1966 — We bought two radios for the T. B. Ward. Also, we give patients candy, cookies, pretzels, fruit, cigarettes, and many other things they need throughout the year.

We are most grateful to the parishes in the Diocese of Pennsylvania for making it possible for us to carry on our work at the Philadelphia General Hospital.

ELIZABETH PRICE MARTIN LEAGUE #2

This League Unit has been busy this past year. There are thirty active, devoted members and about the same number of associate members.

The League has an annual budget of over $2,000 which is used by standing committee chairmen to help some ten areas in the hospital. To mention a few — parties at Harrison House and the Children's Ward. Financial help is given to the Chaplain, student nurses, library, Out-Patient and Rehabilitation Departments.

The amount of $31,500.00 has been given to the hospital as part payment on our $75,000.00 pledge for the new Potter-Morris building. This unit should be dedicated during December 1966 and replaces the buildings which have been in constant use for well over 100 years.

The League's fund raising events are the annual May Fete, the February Card Party, the proceeds from the Emergency Aid Bazaar Booth, personal and parish contributions, the Hospital Corner Store, and special projects such as this year's Chapel Christmas cards.

In-service at the hospital is an important part of our work. Many hours are given by our members to the library and shopping carts. This is a devoted service and more volunteers are needed to provide to our patients this necessary kindness.

Our many thanks to individuals and church groups for their support to the Episcopal Hospital and the League's work.

May God bless you all.

ELIZABETH PRICE MARTIN LEAGUE #3

On behalf of all at Riverview a big "Thank You" to all who donated money and gifts for the residents at Christmas. Because of your donations the Episcopal volunteers were able to put a pair of stretch stocks in each of the 600 men's packages. Yes, we made the goal and passed it. Six poinsettias were also purchased (two for each of the altars). A Nativity scene was given to the Episcopal Residents and those who attend the Episcopal service regularly. Thank you for your donations and for packaging the 1100 gift packages the week before Christmas.

On January 19 at 9 a.m. the Annual Episcopal Corporate Communion and breakfast will be held. The service is an inspiration to Residents and Volunteers alike. The service and breakfast will be held regardless of the weather. YOUR HELP IS URGENTLY NEEDED. Please come and enjoy the day at Riverview.

The next League meeting will be held following the Communion Breakfast at about 11:30 a.m. in the fireplace room at Riverview, Rhawn and State Roads. Please bring lunch, beverage provided. A workshop is planned for after lunch. Please come as a very full day is planned and your help is needed.

Easter Dress Project

The project of an Easter Dress for each lady at Riverview will be held again this year. They should be clean, pressed and the dress size pinned to the dress — LARGE SIZES ARE NEEDED BADLY. Please mark packages Easter Dresses and your name and address and leave at the Riverview Administration Building. Coat hangers, hats and handbags are also needed. The ladies will shop for their dresses on March 17. All articles must be in before Thursday, March 16 as they will be sorted that day. Your help is also needed on March 16 and 17.

We will be looking forward to seeing you at the Communion Breakfast on January 19.

ELIZABETH PRICE MARTIN LEAGUE #4

To many people seven years may seem like a very long time, but to the volunteers of the Elizabeth Price Martin League Unit #4 the years have slipped by all too rapidly. There have been many changes during these seven years, happy ones and sad ones, but the one thing that remains unchanged is our purpose for being Unit #4. The purpose is to bring cheer and comfort to those less fortunate, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The over-all program is comprised of ten different standing committees. For the most part, these committees have been basic since the beginning of League work at Fair Acres. Every two years a different volunteer assumes the responsibility of committee chairmanship and it is through her the change is seen. She adds her very own ingredients of enthusiasm, imagination and energy to make each facet of the program exciting and appealing for all guests.

The recreation program and birthday parties seem to attract the largest number of guests. We are grateful, that the original eleven parishes are continuing to support the birthday program. The cheer received by the guests cannot be measured.

The garden program thrives under the present chairman who is introducing the idea of plant therapy. This has created much interest among guests as well as personnel. Her work on the patio, with the aid of several guests, flourished from early spring through November. What cheer and joy to look and see the profusion of color and the loving care given to this project!

The arts and crafts program also lends itself to therapy. The busy hands of the many men and women is reflected in the excellent workmanship of handcrafts. This past fall the League was designated a booth at the St. David's Fair. It was an opportunity to see and to buy many beautiful things.

The comfort received by men and women through our programs of visitation, prayer and worship is the spiritual highlight of all our activities. We have been blessed at Fair Acres to have dedicated clergy who answer the call of service. The most significant change in our worship program was due to the untimely death of the Reverend John Knewstub, who conducted meditations every third Tuesday. Following his death the League members voted to invite clergymen from neighboring churches of all denominations.

Music, Churchwork among the Blind, Children's Cottage, and Wardrobe, are standing committees whose chairmen steadfastly continue their contributions in the over-all program of making Unit #4 a most desirable and lasting service.

In conclusion, the eight week training course was just recently completed by six new volunteers. It is a joy for guests and volunteers to have numbered among the six the first male. We pray through his act of compassion and his desire to help others that he will open the door for other retired men. Never forgetting that our really true mission is people; let us not turn a deaf ear nor a cold heart.

APPENDIX 25.8

DEPARTMENT OF PROMOTION

MRS. CHARLES W. G. VAN HORN

The main efforts of this department go into coordinating the material and programs of Diocesan Departments of ECW for publication each month in the CHURCH NEWS. The purpose is to give the women of the diocese a look at the work of the church in addition to their parish programs and involve them if possible.

The department has asked each officer to write a description, spelling out the functions and activities of her job. Hopefully this will give us a chance to analyze our efforts and improve our efficiency.

Chairmen of Convocations were called together on several occasions to discuss plans and hear of possible changes to come before convention in connection with convocation structure.

Meetings of the Department of Missions, the Department of Communications, and the Committee on Voluntary Services, were attended whenever possible.

Our Christian Ministry efforts took form in two awards made to graduate students for further education. In April the ECW sponsored a program for recruitment of volunteers to work in summer service projects at home and abroad.

We have also been privileged to assist the Committee on Arrangements for the 1967 Diocesan Convention.

The members of this committee are:

Mrs. John W. Walleigh, Jr., Chairman of Christian Ministries
Mrs. J. Russell Warner, Secretary

APPENDIX 25.9

ECUMENICAL RELATIONS

MRS. ALBERT K. LENNAN

The spring meeting of the department was held on March 18 at the First Baptist Church in Philadelphia. It was a luncheon meeting so that men would have an opportunity to attend. Mr. Peter Day, Chief Ecumenical Officer of Episcopal Church, was the speaker. He traced the progress of the Consultation on Church Union, dialogue with the Roman Catholic Church and the prospects for church unity.

November 30 — Ecumenical Workshop — Nine people spoke briefly on local ecumenical ventures:

1. Ecumenical Dialogues at St. Stephen's, Wissahickon
2. Ecumenical breakfast, Ridley Park
3. Advisory Council on Race, Springfield area
4. Speakers and discussion groups in Ardmore
5. Fish — Ecumenical person to person services, Glenside
6. Living Room Dialogues, Chester
7. Project Free, Main Line
8. Church Library Exchange, Glenside
9. Main Line Prayer Group and House Communion

There was much enthusiasm and hopefully others will start similar groups. There will be a follow up and further communication about these.

APPENDIX 25.10

UNITED THANK OFFERING

MRS. JOHN L. FOX

The Rt. Rev. George Nasmith Luxton, Bishop of the Diocese of Huron, addressed a congregation of about 600 at the Spring Presentation Service, held at Valley Forge Military Chapel on May 11, 1966. The Canadian Bishop talked about giving and receiving. He said that in the United Thank Offering, the women of PECUSA had a concept of Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence long before those Bishops met in Toronto in 1963! As Bishop DeWitt was unable to attend, Bishop Swift received the offering, which totalled $38,049.08.

The Rev. Ernest A. Harding welcomed over 350 people to Christ Church for the Fall Presentation Service on November 15, 1966. Bishop Swift graciously received the offering of $37,830.68. Miss Frances M. Young, Executive Director of the General Division of Women's Work of the Executive Council, spoke on the philosophy of the United Thank Offering. She reminded us that this is money given in thanks, over and above the regular pledge; money which is in hand before it is spent, but money which is all spent within the triennium.

APPENDIX 25.11

MRS. DANE E. WELLS

This is a report of the past twelve months, half of the Supply Work of the 1965-66 assignment, and half of it our response to the assignment we received from the General Division of Women's Work in July of this year. Since we take our directives from New York and get them in the middle of the summer, we were not yet able to follow the new January to January year of the Diocese.

In May of this year, after the sewing assignment that was channeled to us from the Missions through the Associate Secretary of Supply at the General Division of Women's Work, was completed in our parish workshops and sent to St. Michael's Center in Ponce, Puerto Rico, and the Good Shepherd Mission to the Navajos in Fort Defiance, Arizona, and after a sum was set aside to buy materials to start us off for this summer's new sewing assignment, we made the following donations:

$10.00 to St. Michael's, Ponce, for paper goods.
$100.00 to the Associate Supply Secretary's Gift Fund for Christmas gifts for a few clergy widows and for clothing for Indian Lay Readers in the Dakotas.
$200.00 to Interchurch Medical Assistance, to help pay for handling and shipping of the drugs and medical equipment the manufacturers donate for use in Church affiliated institutions throughout the world.
$500.00 to St. Barnabas' Hospital in Osaka, Japan.
$100 to Keep, the agricultural experimental center in Japan.
$100.00 to St. Christophers, at Bluff, Utah, to help with a Berlitz course in Navajo.
$100.00 to Scholarship House at Sisseton, South Dakota, for aid to gifted Indian children preparing for college.
$200.00 to St. Michael's, in Ponce, for shoes.
$200.00 to Vietnamese Christian Service, a new venture combining the effects of Church World Service with those of the Lutherans and Mennonites, to send doctors, nurses and social workers to coastal Viet Nam.
$200.00 for extra blankets for Church World Service
$20.00 to Church World Service to help pay for the handling and shipping for the Used Clothing Drive.

We continued to collect and buy yarn which was packaged with directions for knitting sweaters for the Seamen's Church Institute and Church World Service, which we keep on our shelves for those individuals and groups who want to knit.

In July the last sewig assignment we shall ever get reached us from New York, and materials were bought and packeted for making infant's clothes for St. Michael's, in Ponce, and for the Good Shepherd Mission to the Navajos, in Arizona. It was a small assignment, and all of it is now in the parish workshops being made.

Last year 1/6th of the value of our efforts went into Supply sewing; this year only 1/30th. We have been acting as purchasing agents for the Missions who have long been asking for more ready-made articles than for hand sewn garments. $382.12 worth of Dispensary items are now on their way to St. Mark's Mission, at Harper City, Liberia; $248.67 worth of household linens and $26.24 worth of Dispensary things have been sent to St. Michael's, Ponce; and we are in the process of buying ready-made clothes, like cotton knit goods and rubber panties, both for St. Michael's and for the Good Shepherd, Arizona.

Since 1958, Ad Hoc Committees, on the national level, have been re-evaluating Supply work. Last year the decision was reached that it was wiser for the Missions to place what used to be their supply lists, in their annual budgets, and rather than be victims of our zelous needles, get the money to buy what they need from the general budget of the whole church. Supply, on the Assignment Basis, will come to an end December 31, 1967. After that, what once was Supply will be the concern of the whole church, not just the ECW.

For those parishes that still have sewing groups, there will always be meaningful work to be done; sewing for local institutions; for fund raising projects, like bazaars; for any Mission with which they have direct contact, and for Church World Service, that disaster relief agency of the National Council of Churches which sells packets of things to be made to fill its warehouses, which are continually being raided by refugees from natural and man-made disasters.

Our Diocesan Supply Department, already deep in world relief projects, has changed its name from Supply Department to World Relief Department. It will continue to give advice and direction to parish ECWs, with only a slight change in emphasis. It will continue to explain the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, the work of Church World Service, and whatever disaster relief organization may come in the future, mindful that one of the many parts of the world that deserves our attention is Philadelphia and the Diocese of Pennsylvania itself.

APPENDIX 25.12

THE MISSION SHOP

JANET BULLITT SMITH

In June 1966 Mrs. C. Fenno Hoffman turned over the Mission Shop of the Episcopal Churchwomen to Mrs. Rayburn Clark Smith, Jr. She left a balance on hand of $1,159.03 and articles in the shop from Alaska, American Indians, Africa, Arab Christians, Brazil, Haiti, International Gift Shop of Church World Service, Japan, Okinawa, Puerto Rico, Taiwan, and our local shut-ins and hospitals.

During the summer the shop was painted and rearranged and it opened for the United Thank Offering meeting on September 21.

Church World Service has provided many new items such as creches made in the Holy Land, and Whiting of India has been particularly helpful with colorful silks and brasses. Religious transparencies hung in the windows have added color and meaning to our shop and all our committee of volunteers have been most cooperative and enthusiastic.

Our new secretary, Mrs. Mallams, has faithfully "tended the store" and dealt uncomplainingly with the constant task of covering and uncovering the merchandise night and morning to keep us clean and shining, and has a ready welcome for all who come. Do come.

Church Farm School
United Thank Offering
All Saints School — Bontoc
Girls' Friendly Holiday House, Cape May, New Jersey
Philadelphia Divinity School

APPENDIX 25.14

THE CONFERENCE OF THE PROVINCE OF WASHINGTON

MRS. JOHN L. FOX

Hood '66, with "A Fresh Look at Worship and Witness" as its theme, provided stimulus for the participating attendants in June at the Conference in Frederick, Maryland.

The Rev. H. Boone Porter, Jr., who serves on the Standing Liturgical Commission of the Church, opened the meetings by stating that worship is the heart of the life of the Church with 'witness' standing in relation to worship both as cause and effect. The concept of renewal, inherent in M.R.I., is having and will have an effect on our worship and witness.

Some of the new approaches to Christian worship and background for understanding and participating in possible changes that may be made in the Prayer Book, should the 1967 General Convention authorize a commission for revision, were explained by Dr. Porter. The Collects, Epistles and Gospels for Lesser Feasts and Fasts and for Special Occasions were used frequently at services.

The Rev. W. Murray Kenney served as Conference Chaplain and viewed the church as a "Lost and Found" Society. Mr. Kenney has worked in England with Ernest Southcott, a former Hood Conference headliner, and is active in the "House Church" movement.

The lectures, sermons and chapel services with free-standing altar, lay participation, the bringing forward of the elements, all led up to the final innovation. On the last morning of the conference, breakfast was followed by a "House Communion." This was a con-celebration, with a priest at each table breaking bread on his plate and blessing wine in a water tumbler. This pragmatic experience extended the "fresh look at worship and witness."

APPENDIX 26

THE DIOCESE OF PENNSYLVANIA
COMMISSION ON RECTORS' SALARIES AND PENSIONS

Annual Report 1966

The Commission has, during 1966, attended to its two responsibilities, i.e., supplementing salaries of Rectors when and where necessary, and advancing funds for keeping the pensions of the clergy of the Diocese paid up, where that might be necessary.

In our 1965 report we stated that during this present year of 1966, the first full year under the new schedule of increased minimum salaries, we would have opportunity to learn whether this higher figure would result in some parishes requesting the financial assistance of this Commission in meeting this new minimum. The Commission is happy to report that only one parish has requested such assistance which is, we believe, a great tribute to the large numbers of vestries, very close to 100%, who have achieved this notable result, and the Commission gladly pays this tribute.

During the year we have paid nothing on account of pension premiums in arrears.

We are very appreciative of the willing and competent assistance we have received from Mr. Walter Robertson, the Controller of the Diocese.

APPENDIX 27

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON ECUMENICAL RELATIONS

For the year ending January, 1967

The committee has held seven meetings since last Convocation with the addition of extra ecumenical activity which has been carried on through the interests of individuals on the committee who have had special assignments and responsibilities both on diocesan level and local level. The present members of the committee are:

The Rt. Rev. Robert L. DeWitt, the Rev. Robert MacDonald, Chairman (after 9/1/66), the Rev. Eugene F. Lefebvre, Secretary, the Rev. Robert E. DuBose, Jr., the Rev. Charles H. Long, Jr. (Chairman to 9/1/66), the Rev. Edward C. McCoy, the Rev. Daniel Stevick, the Rev. Walter R. Strickland, Mr. Harry E. Broadbent, Jr., Mr. Charles Glanville, Mrs. Albert K. Lennan, Miss Beryl Newman, Mrs. Siter Owen, Mrs. Edward J. Parnum, Mrs. C. Stanley Rogers, Mr. Fred Witkop.

During this past year Mrs. Albert K. Lennan became a member of the committee because of her position as Vice-President of the Episcopal Churchwomen in charge of the Department of Ecumenical Relations. It is through Mrs. Lennan that the Committee on Ecumenical Relations is able to encourage the study of the Ecumenical Movement through the various study programs sponsored by the Diocesan Episcopal Churchwomen.

This past June, before the summer vacations, the Rev. Charles H. Long, Jr. chairman of this committee for a number of years, resigned the chairmanship to the Rev. Robert MacDonald who accepted the position this past September. In accepting the chairmanship, the Rev. Mr. MacDonald praised the good work which the former chairman had done to further the effectiveness of the committee on Ecumenical Relations within the Diocese of Pennsylvania.

Earlier this year through the efforts of the Episcopal Churchwomen's Department of Ecumenical Relations, Mr. Peter Day was invited to be the guest speaker at a Luncheon Meeting held on March 18, 1966 at the First Baptist Church, Philadelphia. Mr. Day spoke on the Vatican Council and its effects upon the Ecumenical Movement among the Christian Churches. At the luncheon meeting there were present several representatives of other Christian Churches, including several Roman Catholic priests, sisters, and laymen.

The committee has recommended that the Bishop's Office mail to the clergy of the Diocese of Pennsylvania a guide line which has been prepared by the Committee on Ecumenical Relations to serve as information material with suggestions for "Joint Services" with clergy or other Christian Churches and our own. In this time of closer inter-liturgical worship it becomes necessary that certain guide lines be used in order to establish proper order with our relationships with Christian Churches of various Catholic and Protestant traditions.

One ecumenical event which was of some disappointment was the Pulpit Exchange which was to be held on the second Sunday after Easter (April 24) in cooperation with the Consultation on Church Union (COCU). In this pulpit exchange the clergy of the churches involved in the Consultation were to exchange pulpits. This program was to have been promoted in this area by another local area denominational group; but was not, because of lack of communication from their higher National Headquarters as to their responsibility in this program. Nevertheless, there were some pulpit exchanges made within the diocese on Sunday, April 24.

The Ecumenical Movement continues to move forward both in the Catholic and Protestant circles, and we see more and more a drawing of Christians into mutual cooperation with one another as Jesus Christ becomes our center of unity. We feel that as time moves on, we shall see increased need for ecumenical relationships.

Respectfully submitted,

EUGENE F. LEFEBVRE
Secretary

APPENDIX 28

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DIOCESAN LIBRARY FOR THE YEAR 1966

The Diocesan Library is a free service to all clergy and laity of the diocese and is located in the well-lighted and quiet Room No. 1, next to the Bishop's Chapel in the basement of the Church House. It is filled with books which may not be in the parish or the rector's library. Care is taken by the members of the Board of Control of the Library to choose the best and most currently desired books, as well as the classics, on all religious subjects. One or more books may be taken out for two or more weeks, and a mailing service is available. The Librarian, who may be reached by dialing Extension 37, is eager to explain details and to aid anyone in obtaining a book.

During 1966, 21 new books were added to the Diocesan Library and listed in the Church News for people's convenience. Titles included books on cultural changes, social and racial relations, discussions on the new theology, the Life of Christ, and Bishop Tsu's book on his life and work in China.

In addition to the new books, the following magazines were subscribed to, and are available in the reading rack in the entry to the elevator on the first floor of the Church House:

American Church News
Anglican Theological Review
Christianity and Crisis
Christian Century
Churchman
Church News
Church Times
Congressional Digest
Cross Currents
Ecumenical Review
Findings
Episcopalian
Hibbert Journal
Historical Magazine
Journal of Applied Behavioral Science
Journal of Pastoral Care
Journal of Religion and Health Transaction Living Church
Witness

The library was used by 35 people, 14 clergy and 21 laymen during 1966, an average of 26 books being out at a time.

Many more interesting books will be purchased during 1967, and a diocesan letter will be mailed to all clergy and to the lay people using the library. A poster will accompany the letter for use on parish bulletin boards. In this way, we hope to advise new clergy of this opportunity as well as former users of the library who may have not yet found its new location.

Respectfully submitted,

THE REV. CHARLES F. EHLY, Chairman
Board of Control of the Diocesan Library

APPENDIX 29

REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMISSION OF MUSIC

At the time of this writing the Commission on Music consists of the following members aside from the chairman: Joseph Barboza (Good Shepherd, Rosemont), Mrs. Ruth Flower (St. Aidan's, Cheltenham), the Rev. Robert Forster, Albert Robinson (St. Peter's, Philadelphia), Newell Robinson (Grace, Mount Airy), Harry Wilkinson (St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Chestnut Hill), and Ernest Willoughby (Redeemer, Bryn Mawr).

During the year just past the commission has been active in education. Two Schools of Church Music were sponsored, one held at Episcopal Academy on January 22, February 19, and March 19. the other held at Philadelphia Divinity School on four successive Saturdays beginning September 24. In response to requests from lay persons concerned with church music, both these schools were intended to offer practical work in aspects of the art which are met weekly. To this end we presented courses in chanting (Anglican and Psalm Tone), anthem accompaniment at the organ, anthem repertoire, and choir training. All these were under the direction of members of the local commission, with the additional help of Mr. Wesley Day (St. Mark's, Philadelphia), who gave a very valuable session in chanting. We also entertained as keynote speaker on January 22, Dr. Peter LaManna, choirmaster at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Francis de Sales, and a recognized authority in this area on recent developments in music in the Roman Catholic church.

Attendance at these Schools by lay persons was satisfactory, and their response heartening. Discussions were lively and informed. Later critiques were understanding and helpful. While we regret the absence of clergymen from these sessions, we understand that the committment of time which would have been necessary probably prevented many from coming.

We regard this task of education as our most pressing responsibility. Like so much else in the Church, music has yet to emerge fully from the doldrums of the late Victorian age. We need much fresh work in the field: new hymns, with texts appropriate to the time; new settings of the Liturgy for congregational use; new thought on the place of music generally in the church. While we do not regard the intellectual and emotional sterilities of the so-called "Jazz Masses" and their like to be an answer to any problem, we do enthusiastically welcome and encourage the experiments of those who wish to see our music brought up to date.

In line with this, we will offer a Festival of Choirs on April 9, 1967. This Festival will be diocese-wide, held simultaneously in as many different church buildings as necessary to accommodate all who wish to participate. Special efforts will be made to encourage participation in the center city areas. We will use, we hope, at least one new hymn tune composed by a churchman of this diocese, and chosen by an impartial jury from those submitted to us. Our purpose generally will not be to "put on a show." Rather, we hope to involve a large number of singers in a single service which will demonstrate not only the power of music, but the power and oneness of our diocese as well.

Finally, in the area of communications, we have begun to publish a thrice-yearly Newsletter, which we hope will be not only a vehicle for contact between us and church musicians and clergy all over the diocese, but for dialogue between parishes as well. It is under the editorship of Mr. Albert Robinson.

In closing, we echo again the hope that our efforts have the support of the clergy and lay leaders of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. We make every effort to act relevantly to the general thought and movement of the Diocese, and would be pleased to hear comments and suggestions from any side.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT SMART, Chairman

APPENDIX 30

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EXAMINING CHAPLAINS TO THE CONVENTION — 1967

The Board has held three regular meetings during the year. There was also considerable correspondence between the chairman and various board members, as well as innumerable phone calls concerning individual cases and special work. At the organizational meeting following the last convention the Very Rev. Francis D. Davis was re-elected chairman of the Board and the Rev. T. Gordon Ott, S.T.D. was elected secretary.

Regular examinations were held on the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Thanksgiving week and on the Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday following Easter. During the year thirty men were examined and a number of additional examinations were given by mail. Recommendations for dispensation from Greek for two candidates were made to the Bishop.

The Rev. John F. Hardwick continues as the director of studies for the Board for those seeking ordination to the Perpetual Diaconate, working with those already being processed. No additional candidates are being received in this category for the present.

The Rev. Warren H. Davis, Jr., and the Rev. Norman J. Faramelli shared the responsibility of setting up a school and establishing a curriculum for those seeking to be licensed as Lay Readers. The school is being held at the Philadelphia Divinity School for twenty evenings with an enrollment of forty-five. It is in session once a week from September through March. Fine cooperation is being experienced from both the Divinity School and from other clergy in the Diocese.

The following have been recommended as Candidates during the Convention year:

Richard Buzby
Daniel G. Conklin
Frederick S. Crysler, Jr.
Barry R. Howe
Henry W. Kauffman
Edward S. Kesseler
Reed Kenneth Merino
Wayne D. Pokorny
John P. Simpson, Jr.
Samuel C. Walker
Michael I. Wheeler

The following have been recommended for ordination to Holy Orders:

Peter Westlake Booke
Ronald Wayne Lockhart
Barton Douglass Berry, Jr.
Peter Camp Evans
Clarence Leighton Erb
John Frain Hoover
Albert LeRoy Mahan, Jr.
Charles Thurston Mason, Jr.
Richard A. Miller
John Henry Pease
Richard William Pfaff
Michael Joseph Shank
Carl Jon Widing
Lloyd Henry Winter
Ray Woods

The Board offers the following resolution: RESOLVED, that the appropriation of $150.00 for expenses required in Board business be continued.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS P. DAVIS
Chairman

APPENDIX 31

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTION AND CANONS

The Committee on Constitution and Canons reports to the 183rd Annual Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania as follows:

Revision of the first three sections of Canon VIII is proposed by a subcommittee of the Committee on Study and Reorganization of the Diocese. Pursuant to Canon IV, Section II, Paragraph 2, the Committee on Constitution and Canons reports that these proposals do not conflict with any provision of the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese or of the General Convention.

Certain changes of wording or phraseology in the interest of possible clarification have been suggested by the Committee on Constitution and Canons to the subcommittee of the Committee on Study and Reorganization of the Diocese.

The Committee on Constitution and Canons recommends to the 183rd Annual Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania adoption of the following:

RESOLVED:

That Article VI, Paragraph 2 of the Constitution of the Diocese be amended to read:

2. Members of the Standing Committee and Deputies to General Convention, both clerical and lay, must, in order to their election, receive a majority of the whole number of votes cast at such election by each Order. In election to any other office or Committee, the vote of a majority of the Deputies present shall suffice unless otherwise ordered by this Constitution, or, in cases not specifically provided for by the Constitution, by any Canon; but the Convention may, in their discretion . . . (remainder without change)

That the third paragraph of the Resolution of Convention of 1965, as to clerical salaries retroactively to January 1, 1966, be amended to read as follows:

3. An allowance for service in the ministry of a minimum increment of $100.00 per year for ten years beginning with the first day of the calendar year following ordination to the priesthood; and thereafter a service increment of $100.00 for every five additional years in the ministry.

APPENDIX 32

THE ALTAR GUILD

MRS. DANIEL S. WOOD

The Altar Guild has filled requests from the following: Institutional Chaplaincy Service, Philadelphia General Hospital Chapel, House of Correction, Byberry, Institute of Pennsylvania Hospital, Sleighton Farms School, Riverview, Denbigh Conference Center, Church of St. Luke and The Epiphany, Holy Cross Church, Acapulco, Mexico; St. Paul's Church, Arecibo, Puerto Rico; Chaplain Yale, Bainbridge, Maryland.

Christmas and Easter Altar flowers were given to the Philadelphia General Hospital, House of Correction and Sleighton Farms School.

Each year two scholarships are provided, one for a boy and one for a girl at the School of the Liberian Missions of the Order of the Holy Cross.

APPENDIX 32.1

THE GIRLS' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

MISS JULIA M. PORTER

The GFS began the new year with fifteen of our leaders serving as hostesses and registrars at the Diocesan Convention.

Our Council meetings were changed to Saturday afternoons in 1966. Three meetings were held. There was one in January at Christ Church and St. Michael's, one in May at Trinity Church, Oxford, one in October at St. Stephen's Church, Philadelphia. All meetings were well attended.

National GFS WEEK was January 23-29. This is the week when we promote the work of the organization. There were Services of Admission, Teas, Corporate Communions, Open House and various other activities held in parishes throughout the dioceses.

On March 19 two large buses filled with GFS members traveled to the Episcopal Center in New York City for a conducted tour of the building. The service of Evening Prayer was conducted by the Rev. Arthur Woolley in the Chapel of Christ the Lord.

A one day meeting for Senior Members (14-18 years of age) was held at St. Thomas' Church, Saturday, March 26, under the guidance of the Rev. John Leser and Mrs. John Ray. The program was planned around "Speaking To Us" by Margaret Ferriera.

The Annual Service for Senior Members and Sponsors was held Sunday afternoon, March 27, at St. Stephen's Church, Philadelphia. The Very Rev. Jesse Anderson conducted the Service of Evening Prayer. Mrs. Billie Albans, who helped establish the Episcopal Church in Ecuador, was the speaker and showed slides of her work there.

There was a training session for leaders for the 50th National Assembly of the GFS Society for Girls, U.S.A., held at St. Thomas' Church from April 29 to May 1. The leaders were trained by the Rev. Robert Martin, Executive Council, New York and Miss Jean Kind, Executive Director of the GFS, U.S.A.

The Junior and Intermediate members (7-14 years of age) Annual Day was held at St. Luke's Church, Germantown on May 7. Three hundred-fifty girls and their leaders met for a program of worship, fellowship and fun.

The 50th National Assembly of the GFS Society for Girls, U.S.A., met June 30-July 6, at Colorado Women's College, Denver, Colorado. Important legislation restructuring the GFS at the national level occurred.

During the summer, Junior, Intermediate and Senior members enjoyed their stay at the GFS Holiday House in Cape May, New Jersey. The sponsors and their guests spent many pleasant days by the sea.

September 29 each year is the GFS Day of Prayer Around the World. Girls around the world pray for their fellow GFS members in over thirty-one countries. The free will offering taken on this day will help support the GFS in Korea.

At Christmas and throughout the year, the GFS remembers to send gifts to the Seamen's Church Institute, House of Rest, Harrison Home, Stephen Smith Home, All Saints' Hospital and the Eastern Psychiatric Institute.

APPENDIX 32.2

CHURCH PERIODICAL CLUB

MRS. PAUL W. LINGLE

Last year the National giving to the Church Periodical Club for the National Book Fund was $46,000. Of that $46,000, Province III gave $13,942.00. The Diocese of Pennsylvania gave $5,600.00.

From Pennsylvania over $1,000.00 was spent on the Interpreter's Bible Project. Over $1,000.00 was spent to send magazines around the world.

Five library units were given to the "Learn to Read" program. These were used to set up learning centers for adults in the Philadelphia area to learn to read.

Nearly three hundred Bibles were given to those who would not otherwise have them.

One hundred books were sent to Mt. Edgecomb High School in Sitka, Alaska.

Many records for the blind were provided at Christmas time for the sightless in the Philadelphia area.

An annual grant of $25.00 was given to the Philadelphia Divinity School for the student showing the most promise in Theology in his middle year.

Four seminaries each received $100.00 gifts.

St. Vincent's School for Handicapped Children in Haiti was given $350.00.

On the third Tuesday of each month a meeting was held in the Packard Memorial Room at the Church House.

APPENDIX 32.3

THE ORDER OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE KING

ELIZABETH A. JENKS

Members in the six active Chapters of the Daughters of the King in the Diocese of Pennsylvania try faithfully to follow their vows of Prayer and Service.

Prayers are offered daily by many for fellow-parishioners who are ill, shut-in, or have some special need. One Chapter has established a Prayer Chain among the members. If a parishioner is hospitalized, ill or facing an emergency, one of the Prayer Chain is informed. She, in turn, notifies the next on the list who notifies the one following, thus establishing a chain of Intercessory Prayer.

Study is a very important part of each program and varies in each Chapter; some studying the Books of the Bible, Devotional Books or the Church News. Some use the study suggested by the Episcopal Churchwomen and may unite with them for their program.

All Chapters respond to their Rector when called upon for service. They are asked to visit Shut-ins, Confirmation prospects, and new persons in the parish. Individually many serve as Church School teachers, are members of Parish Altar Guilds and help in the study and devotional programs of the women of the parish. Many visit hospitals, Nursing Homes and Institutions for the Aged. Junior Members share in visits in Nursing Homes and prepare favors and decorations for special days and occasions.

The spring Assembly in May began with a service of Holy Communion where the Rector of the Host Parish was the celebrant and made a brief address. The service was followed by luncheon and a business session. The Fall Assembly was held in November in the form of a dinner meeting. Slides were shown by a retired clergyman who had traveled in Greece and Yugoslavia during the past summer.

An informal get-together of all interested Assembly members was held in June at the home of a former diocesan officer. Box supper was followed by a hymn sing. An opportunity was given for a voluntary offering toward the expenses of the delegate to the Triennial meeting in Seattle in 1967.

Two special offerings are received during the year from members throughout the Order. The Self-Denial Offering is received near the Feast of the Purification and pays the salary of a missionary in the field. At present, Miss Elizabeth Daniel, who is working in Brazil, is the recipient. The Masters Fund is received at the time of the spring Assembly and is used as a scholarship fund for the training of women for professional work in the Church.

All monies are from free will offerings; no money raising projects are permitted within the Order.

During the year the President attended the meetings of the Diocesan Executive Churchwomen and made a brief report at each. She was invited to speak on the Order at a Parish Meeting of the Episcopal Churchwomen. Our Council Member was asked to speak at a parish in a nearby diocese in the spring. The rector of a Parish in the Diocese of Pennsylvania has requested and received information concerning the formation of a Chapter. These opportunities are accepted as challenges to publicize the Order and lay the foundation for extending the work.
